65 Persons Die, 8 Survive Air Disaster

Floating Derrick Raising Wreckage; 22 Bodies Found

NEW YORK (AP) — Sixty-five persons were presumed dead Wednesday in the crash of a spanking new turbo-jet American airliner into the East River near LaGuardia Field. There were only eight known survivors.

Radio ground equipment that might have averted the disaster was not available to the ultra-modern airliner, although LaGuardia is one of the busiest airports in the world.

Twenty-two bodies had been recovered from the icy tidal waters of the river after the shattering Tuesday midnight crash in rain and fog.

The plane was loaded to capacity with 68 passengers and a crew of five. Among those believed killed in the crash was Beulah Zachary, producer of the Kukla, Fran and Ollie television show.

Survivors included an 8-year-old Long Island schoolboy, whose family—parents and two sisters—was wiped out in the crash. Three crew members were saved.

Derrick To Raise Wreckage

Many of the missing were believed strapped to their seats, entombed in the tangled wreckage at the bottom of the river. Other bodies were swept into Long Island Sound by the relentless river current.

The four-engine Lockheed Electra—in service on American Airlines only 12 days—smashed into the river at 135 m.p.h. about half a mile from the end of the runway.

Said one survivor: "Just as we were about to land there was a sudden jolt and then an awful lot of noise and we were in the water."

The pilot had given no hint of trouble. Pending a fuller investigation, it appeared that he simply came in too low in the mist that enveloped the area.

Plane On Course, Too Low

The airliner was on course toward LaGuardia's runway No. 22, coming down from the northeast. At that end of the runway there was radio beam equipment to tell the pilot whether he was on course.

But there was no accompanying radio beam to tell him whether he was coming in too high or too low. Such equipment was available at the opposite end of the same runway.

Some 25 Civil Aeronautics Bureau investigators, working out of LaGuardia, were checking the wreckage of the plane.

Autopsy reports on victims disclosed the terrific force with which the airliner hit the water. Nearly all victims died of crushed chests, broken necks or mangling injuries. Drownings were few.

Dulles Okays Macmillan Moscow Trip

Announcement By British Leader Expected Today

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles gave U.S. approval Wednesday to a plan of Prime Minister Harold Macmillan in a two-hour conference that the projected trip had the approval of both Dulles and President Eisenhower.

Macmillan was expected to announce within hours that he will go to the Soviet capital to talk with Khrushchev on easing East-West tensions.

It was indicated that Macmillan had made clear to Dulles that he does not intend to engage in any private negotiations with the Soviet leader.

Macmillan is to tell the House of Commons Thursday that he plans to fly to Moscow—perhaps as early as Feb. 20—for talks with Khrushchev on easing of East-West tensions.

Long-Standing Invitation

There was no official confirmation but it was considered virtually certain the Kremlin two days ago renewed a long-standing invitation for the British head of government to visit the Soviet capital.

Macmillan was believed to have deferred his final decision until he discussed it with Dulles. It was assumed that Dulles already was sold on the idea of direct British-Soviet talks.

Dulles, Lloyd Confer

"In the past few days," a broadcast said, "there have been rather important signs that public opinion in the West wants negotiations with the Soviet Union. Practically all British papers are pleased with the idea of Mr. Macmillan visiting Moscow."

Shortly after his arrival in London Dulles talked for two hours with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. They agreed t any East-West foreign ministers conference must take in reunifying Germany —not just the status of Berlin.

Informants said Dulles and Lloyd worked out what they thought should be on the agenda of such a meeting, which may be held before May 27. That is the date the Soviet Union has said it will turn over to East Germany its occupation duties in Berlin.

Reds Back Down, Release Vehicles Without Search

HELMSTEDT, Germany (UPI) —The Russians backed down during cold-war maneuvering Wednesday night and released an American truck convoy held within a stone's throw of the West German frontier since Monday.

The five GIs manning the four trucks quickly gunned the vehicles past the border checkpoints into the West to end 56 cold hours of detention in East Germany.

They were not allowed to talk to waiting newsmen.

Soviet border guards freed the trucks finally after a meeting between State Department official Findlay Burns and Col. H. F. Markushin, of the Russian army. Burns said the Soviets had dropped their original demand to inspect the trucks' cargoes, but he did not elaborate.

Second Western Victory

It was the second Western victory over the access question since the current Berlin crisis began last Fall. The Communists held up an American convoy Nov. 14, but released it when U.S. officials put Berlin command tanks and infantrymen on alert.

Russian troopers carrying machineguns stopped the trucks Monday afternoon within 50 yards of the U.S. Army's border station here. The troopers insisted the open vehicles had to be searched.

Cpl. Richard C. Masiero, of West Stockbridge, Mass., who was in charge of the convoy during a 110-mile trip through East Germany from West Berlin to the frontier, replied that the trucks contained only jeeps. He refused to allow a search.

Frontier Conference

The border incident triggered a flurry of cold-war maneuvering highlighted Wednesday by Burns' frontier conference and a State Department protest to Moscow which demanded release of the trucks and men.

American officials regarded the Russian action as an attempt to embarrass the West by a token cut-off of the land route to West Berlin within shouting distance of the West's heavily-guarded frontier.

Burns, who is deputy political adviser to the U. S. mission in Berlin, conferred with the Soviets for 2½ hours in their wooden check point but 150 yards down the road at Marienborn. He returned to the Western side of the border at 11 p.m. e.s.t. and announced he had reached agreement for release of the trucks and men.

Senate Votes Against GOP Housing Bill

House Approves GI Home Loan Measure 310-89

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate turned down Wednesday a Republican substitute aimed at cutting a $2,925,000,000 Democratic housing bill back to levels favored by President Eisenhower.

Before it adjourned overnight, however, the Senate agreed by voice vote to cut in half a 300-million-dollar provision for direct home loans to veterans. Democratic backers of the bill agreed to the change, which had the effect of cutting the total authorization to $2,775,000,000.

Only a little earlier, the House voted 310-89 for a 300-million-dollar GI home loan bill over protests from Republicans that "budget busters are on the move."

Rep. Charles Halleck of Indiana led the House protest, trying to help Eisenhower in his fight against any move that might upset his 77-billion-dollar budget.

The substitute the Senate turned down was offered by Sen. Homer Capehart (R-Ind). The vote was 58-32.

Center Of Issue

The big issue centered around proposed spending in the fiscal year starting next July 1. All the programs extend over several years.

Eisenhower said at his news conference, in comment on the Democratic bill:

"This means that right off in the very first bill the budget is to be unbalanced."

The bill passed by the House would add 300 million dollars to the 150 million available under present laws for direct government loans to veterans in the year beginning next July 1. There is a similar 300-million item in the over-all Senate bill.

The House bill would raise interest rates on home loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration from 4¼ per cent to 5¼ per cent. The idea is to encourage the granting of these loan by private institutions.

Fulbright Expects No Veto

In the Senate, the $2,925,000,000 housing bill, sponsored by Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala), compares with a $1,650,000,000 program supported by the Eisenhower administration.

Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark), speaking for the Sparkman bill, told the Senate that Eisenhower is not averse to using his veto power but "I don't think he will veto the bill unless it is greatly inflated."

The Sparkman bill includes an increase in the authority for FHA loan insurance, major long-range provisions for slum clearance, public housing and a special program of housing for the elderly.

A principal difference in the Eisenhower proposal is that it asks a delay in the long-range provisions.

Rain Fouls Up Ike's Vacation Flying Plans

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — President Eisenhower, after being forced by bad weather to circle over south Georgia for nearly an hour, arrived here Wednesday night for a long weekend on the estate of former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey.

The President's plane, Columbine, III, bucked heavy headwinds from Washington, then ran into a severe rainstorm that pushed the ceiling almost to ground level.

Instead of landing at Spence Air Base outside Moultrie, Ga., the President's plane went to Moody Air Force Base outside Valdosta, Ga. From there the presidential party had to drive 67 miles through heavy rain to the Humphrey plantation where he arrived shortly before 6 p.m.

When the Columbine got over Georgia, it became obvious to Col. William Draper, the President's pilot and Air Force aide, that the weather at Moultrie would make landing there impossible. The Moultrie field has no equipment to facilitate an instrument landing.

Shifting to Moody Field, a huge base almost on the Florida-Georgia border where all-weather jet interceptors are based, the Columbine circled in a wide arc over south Georgia for over 40 minutes while a turbulent thunderstorm drenched the field in a driving downpour.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the effects of "considerable turbulence" was felt aboard the Columbine, but the President seemed to be in good spirits as he alighted from the plane at 4:18 p.m. (e.s.t.).

The ceiling dropped to 100 feet and visibility was less than a half mile shortly before the Columbine put down. As the President's ship squared away for her landing, however, the ceiling rose to over the 200-foot operational minimum. Draper, flying on instruments and being guided by radar, made a smooth landing.

Store Marquee's Collapse Kills Two Passersby

QUEBEC (AP)—A huge department store marquee laden with fresh wet snow and winter carnival decorations collapsed suddenly into a noon-rush crowd here Wednesday and killed two persons. Ten others were injured, one seriously.

"There was no warning sound. It was like a clap of thunder," said Salim Jarjour, 64, who received a foot injury.

Half of the heavy marquee that stretched for 100 yards along a busy shopping boulevard crashed to the sidewalk.

Plane Missing With 12 Aboard

NEW YORK (UPI)—An Air Force plane with 12 men aboard was believed to have crashed in flames midway between New York and Bermuda Wednesday while on a weather reconnaissance flight.

An Air Force spokesman in Washington said a WB50 converted bomber had been missing since about 7:40 a.m. e.s.t. in the area where a Japanese ship reported seeing a plane "fall down with fire."

The Coast Guard here said it last had word from the plane at 7:35 a.m. At 8:46 a.m., the Coast Guard said, the Japanese freighter Kochu Maru radioed that it had seen the plane fall an hour earlier but had searched the area and found nothing.

The Coast Guard also ordered the cutter Mackinac to the scene from Bermuda but said the vessel probably would not reach the area until about 5 a.m. Thursday.

Ike Hurls Tax Hike Challenge At Democrats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower challenged Democratic congressional leaders Wednesday to raise taxes if they insisted on passing such "reckless spending" programs as their housing and airport construction bills.

He said laying a tax increase proposal before the people would be "the straightforward honest way" to find out if they wanted the "unnecessary" projects now. He predicted the country would reject a tax boost unless an emergency demanded one.

The President tore into pending Democratic-sponsored housing and airport bills at a news conference held shortly before he left the capital for a long week end of golf and quail shooting at the Thomasville, Ga., estate of former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey.

"I don't believe that we should have higher taxes, and I do not believe that the United States wants higher taxes," the President said. "That means to me living within your income by avoiding unnecessary expenditures."

He opened the news conference by declaring the Democrats proposed to spend $1,300,000,000 more for housing than he sought over the next several years. He said spending for college housing alone would be boosted from his figure of 200 million dollars to 575 million dollars.

Not long afterward, the heavily-Democratic House replied by overriding the President's economy plea and passing a GI housing bill which Republicans said would be sure to unbalance the budget. The vote was 310 to 89, with Republicans casting nearly all the "no's."

The President said his 200-million-dollar airport construction program was devoted to improved flying safety, including better runways. The Democrats, he said, wanted to build "nice lovely administration" buildings that should be a local responsibility.

Shortly after the President spoke, the Senate Commerce Committee approved a five-year, 565-million-dollar airport program after defeating, 9 to 7, a GOP compromise plan. Democrats said some of the funds would go for terminals but no "frills."

Simultaneously, the Senate opened debate on the Democratic six-year $2,925,000,000 housing bill with a warning by Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) that Eisenhower would veto it if it was "enormously inflated" by amendments. A final vote was expected before the weekend.

Six Executions Raise Cuban Total To 271

HAVANA (AP)—Six former soldiers and policemen accused of war crimes against rebels died before firing squads at Camaguey in southeastern Cuba Wednesday.

The executions raised to 271 the unofficial total since Fidel Castro's revolutionaries overturned the Fulgencio Batista government Jan. 1. About 50 others have been condemned to death and are awaiting the firing squad or the outcome of appeals.

Revolutionary tribunals throughout the island still face a docket of some 3,000 cases of persons accused of atrocities, murders and other "crimes against the people."

In general, the tribunals have been freeing or imprisoning scores for each death sentence handed out.

More persons are being arrested continually. The arrest of all censors under the Batista government was ordered Wednesday.

Castro still visited among the mountain farmers of Oriente Province who made it possible for him to survive for two years and then triumph against the Batista dictatorship. He is trying to start the wheels of a big land splitup and welfare program that he promised the farmers as the rewards of revolution.

Bob Hope, Blood Clot In Left Eye, Ordered To Rest

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Bob Hope has a blood clot in his left eye, his doctor said Wednesday. He has been ordered to rest.

"We don't want him traveling," said his physician. "We want him where we can watch him."

He said the ailment is not painful but causes blurred vision.

"It's a clot in a vein in the cornea," the physician said. "It's just like a clot anywhere. It's what happens when a vein gets stopped up."

Hawaiian Bill Clears Hurdle

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Hawaiian statehood won a 25 to 4 vote of approval Wednesday from the House Interior Committee.

The bill to make the Pacific island group the 50th state cleared its first hurdle in the 86th Congress with ease, but a tougher test was expected when it reached the House Rules Committee. The rules Committee schedules major legislation for House action.

Rep. Leo W. O'Brien (D-N.Y.), acting chairman of the Interior Committee, predicted the Rules Committee would clear the Hawaiian statehood bill without delay. But he also warned that supporters of the bill were ready to try to bypass the Rules Committee if there were delaying tactics.

O'Brien, who shepherded the Alaskan statehood bill through the House last year, said he hoped the Hawaiian bill would be passed by the House before the Easter recess starting March 26, or a short time afterward.

Smoke-Filled Plane Makes Safe Landing

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A Capital Airlines Viscount with 20 persons aboard landed safely at Gen. Mitchell Field Wednesday after requesting stand-by fire apparatus at the landing.

Capt. James Hendricks of Minneapolis told the control tower that his instrument panel indicated an electrical short in the airplane and that the fuselage was full of smoke.

On landing, the plane's trouble was diagnosed as a burned-out voltage regulator behind the pilot's compartment.

Boy Survives Plane Crash; Parents, Sisters Killed

NEW YORK (UPI)—"I guess daddy must be dead," 8-year-old Bobby Sullivan said from his hospital bed Wednesday.

But the look on his face seemed to say Bobby knew that not only his father but his entire family had been killed in Tuesday night's East River plane crash. No one told him — and perhaps he was afraid to ask.

Bobby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sullivan, and his sisters, Patricia, 13, and Joan, 5, were among 65 persons killed in the watery crash of the American Airliner.

Hospital attendants and newsmen did not want to press the game youngster's courage too far. But attendants said that by his questions and comments, Bobby seemed to know his family had been killed.

Bobby and his family of Hempstead, N.Y., were returning from a visit to relatives in Chicago, a trip they took at least twice a year. A New York relative, Joseph McNulty, said that "to them flying was just like taking a bus."

Bobby sat next to his mother, Lorraine, 40, in the plane. His father, a World War II navigator and his sisters sat together in the back. Most of the trip was just like a bus ride.

"Then the pilot said the plane would be on the ground in five minutes," Bobby said from his bed in Flushing Hospital. "Then minutes after that I heard a small splash in the water and before I knew it, the plane was in pieces".

NEA Endorses Education Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Educaiton Association endorsed as "necessary and reasonable" Wednesday a Democratic-sponsored bill to provide federal aid for school construction and increased teachers' pay.

Miss Ruth Stout of Topeka, Kans., NEA president, threw the support of her organization behind the four-year, $11,500,000,000 program sponsored by Chairman James E. Murray (D-Mont.) of the Senate Education subcommittee.

Miss Stout told the subcommittee the proposed legislation represented only "the minimum steps required to strengthen public education at this time."

She said the bill would allow state and local school systems "maximum discretion in how the federal allocations would be spent."

Pan Am And Pilots Agree On Contract

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pan American World Airways reached agreement Wednesday on a new labor contract with the Air Line Pilots Association (AFL-CIO) 18 months after negotiations began.

Sources close to the negotiations said the agreement provides top pay of $33,000 a year for the pilots if they put in 85 hours flying time every month. Pilots of other planes would average about $29,000 a year compared to $23,000 now, these sources said.

Trust-Busters Probe Auto, Steel Industries

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department reported Wednesday that it is currently investigating the automotive and steel industries for possible violations of the anti-trust laws.

Victor B. Hansen, chief of the department's anti-trust division, said in a statement that studies of these industries have been underway "for quite some time."

But he emphasized that the inquiry still is in the investigative stage. So far, Hansen said, "no conclusions have been reached and no legal action is now in preparation for filing."

Earlier in the day, Hansen testified before the joint congressional economic committee, where he also noted that his trust-busters are looking into the automotive field for possible monopolistic control or restraint of trade practices.

Hansen's statement was issued in response to press reports. They sent the stock market down nearly three points with significant drops registered for steel and automotive stocks.

Hansen called the news stories "speculative." He said they were "grossly exaggerated and distorted."

The New York Journal American reported that the government had decided to seek to force General Motors to dispose of one or more of its motor divisions.

GM turns out Cadillacs, Buicks, Oldsmobiles, Pontiacs and Chevrolets as well as buses, trucks and household equipment.

Rain Fouls Up Ike's Vacation Flying Plans

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — President Eisenhower, after being forced by bad weather to circle over south Georgia for nearly an hour, arrived here Wednesday night for a long weekend on the estate of former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey.

The President's plane, Columbine, III, bucked heavy headwinds from Washington, then ran into a severe rainstorm that pushed the ceiling almost to ground level.

Instead of landing at Spence Air Base outside Moultrie, Ga., the President's plane went to Moody Air Force Base outside Valdosta, Ga. From there the presidential party had to drive 67 miles through heavy rain to the Humphrey plantation where he arrived shortly before 6 p.m.

When the Columbine got over Georgia, it became obvious to Col. William Draper, the President's pilot and Air Force aide, that the weather at Moultrie would make landing there impossible. The Moultrie field has no equipment to facilitate an instrument landing.

Shifting to Moody Field, a huge base almost on the Florida-Georgia border where all-weather jet interceptors are based, the Columbine circled in a wide arc over south Georgia for over 40 minutes while a turbulent thunderstorm drenched the field in a driving downpour.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the effects of "considerable turbulence" was felt aboard the Columbine, but the President seemed to be in good spirits as he alighted from the plane at 4:18 p.m. (e.s.t.).

The ceiling dropped to 100 feet and visibility was less than a half mile shortly before the Columbine put down. As the President's ship squared away for her landing, however, the ceiling rose to over the 200-foot operational minimum. Draper, flying on instruments and being guided by radar, made a smooth landing.

Store Marquee's Collapse Kills Two Passersby

QUEBEC (AP)—A huge department store marquee laden with fresh wet snow and winter carnival decorations collapsed suddenly into a noon-rush crowd here Wednesday and killed two persons. Ten others were injured, one seriously.

"There was no warning sound. It was like a clap of thunder," said Salim Jarjour, 64, who received a foot injury.

Half of the heavy marquee that stretched for 100 yards along a busy shopping boulevard crashed to the sidewalk.

Plane Missing With 12 Aboard

NEW YORK (UPI)—An Air Force plane with 12 men aboard was believed to have crashed in flames midway between New York and Bermuda Wednesday while on a weather reconnaissance flight.

An Air Force spokesman in Washington said a WB50 converted bomber had been missing since about 7:40 a.m. e.s.t. in the area where a Japanese ship reported seeing a plane "fall down with fire."

The Coast Guard here said it last had word from the plane at 7:35 a.m. At 8:46 a.m., the Coast Guard said, the Japanese freighter Kochu Maru radioed that it had seen the plane fall an hour earlier but had searched the area and found nothing.

The Coast Guard also ordered the cutter Mackinac to the scene from Bermuda but said the vessel probably would not reach the area until about 5 a.m. Thursday.

Ike Hurls Tax Hike Challenge At Democrats

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower challenged Democratic congressional leaders Wednesday to raise taxes if they insisted on passing such "reckless spending" programs as their housing and airport construction bills.

He said laying a tax increase proposal before the people would be "the straightforward honest way" to find out if they wanted the "unnecessary" projects now. He predicted the country would reject a tax boost unless an emergency demanded one.

The President tore into pending Democratic-sponsored housing and airport bills at a news conference held shortly before he left the capital for a long week end of golf and quail shooting at the Thomasville, Ga., estate of former Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey.

"I don't believe that we should have higher taxes, and I do not believe that the United States wants higher taxes," the President said. "That means to me living within your income by avoiding unnecessary expenditures."

He opened the news conference by declaring the Democrats proposed to spend $1,300,000,000 more for housing than he sought over the next several years. He said spending for college housing alone would be boosted from his figure of 200 million dollars to 575 million dollars.

Not long afterward, the heavily-Democratic House replied by overriding the President's economy plea and passing a GI housing bill which Republicans said would be sure to unbalance the budget. The vote was 310 to 89, with Republicans casting nearly all the "no's."

The President said his 200-million-dollar airport construction program was devoted to improved flying safety, including better runways. The Democrats, he said, wanted to build "nice lovely administration" buildings that should be a local responsibility.

Shortly after the President spoke, the Senate Commerce Committee approved a five-year, 565-million-dollar airport program after defeating, 9 to 7, a GOP compromise plan. Democrats said some of the funds would go for terminals but no "frills."

Simultaneously, the Senate opened debate on the Democratic six-year $2,925,000,000 housing bill with a warning by Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) that Eisenhower would veto it if it was "enormously inflated" by amendments. A final vote was expected before the weekend.

Barrel Believed From Lost Danish Ship Found

HALIFAX, N.S. (UPI) — Royal Canadian Air Force rescue aircraft guided ships Wednesday to a red and white barrel believed to be from the Danish passenger-cargo vessel Hans Hedtoft which hit an iceberg last Friday and disappeared with 95 persons on board.

NEA Endorses Education Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The National Educaiton Association endorsed as "necessary and reasonable" Wednesday a Democratic-sponsored bill to provide federal aid for school construction and increased teachers' pay.

Miss Ruth Stout of Topeka, Kans., NEA president, threw the support of her organization behind the four-year, $11,500,000,000 program sponsored by Chairman James E. Murray (D-Mont.) of the Senate Education subcommittee.

Miss Stout told the subcommittee the proposed legislation represented only "the minimum steps required to strengthen public education at this time."

She said the bill would allow state and local school systems "maximum discretion in how the federal allocations would be spent."

Six Executions Raise Cuban Total To 271

HAVANA (AP)—Six former soldiers and policemen accused of war crimes against rebels died before firing squads at Camaguey in southeastern Cuba Wednesday.

The executions raised to 271 the unofficial total since Fidel Castro's revolutionaries overturned the Fulgencio Batista government Jan. 1. About 50 others have been condemned to death and are awaiting the firing squad or the outcome of appeals.

Revolutionary tribunals throughout the island still face a docket of some 3,000 cases of persons accused of atrocities, murders and other "crimes against the people."

In general, the tribunals have been freeing or imprisoning scores for each death sentence handed out.

More persons are being arrested continually. The arrest of all censors under the Batista government was ordered Wednesday.

Castro still visited among the mountain farmers of Oriente Province who made it possible for him to survive for two years and then triumph against the Batista dictatorship. He is trying to start the wheels of a big land splitup and welfare program that he promised the farmers as the rewards of revolution.

Pan Am And Pilots Agree On Contract

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Pan American World Airways reached agreement Wednesday on a new labor contract with the Air Line Pilots Association (AFL-CIO) 18 months after negotiations began.

Sources close to the negotiations said the agreement provides top pay of $33,000 a year for the pilots if they put in 85 hours flying time every month. Pilots of other planes would average about $29,000 a year compared to $23,000 now, these sources said.

Bob Hope, Blood Clot In Left Eye, Ordered To Rest

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Bob Hope has a blood clot in his left eye, his doctor said Wednesday. He has been ordered to rest.

"We don't want him traveling," said his physician. "We want him where we can watch him."

He said the ailment is not painful but causes blurred vision.

"It's a clot in a vein in the cornea," the physician said. "It's just like a clot anywhere. It's what happens when a vein gets stopped up."

Hawaiian Bill Clears Hurdle

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Hawaiian statehood won a 25 to 4 vote of approval Wednesday from the House Interior Committee.

The bill to make the Pacific island group the 50th state cleared its first hurdle in the 86th Congress with ease, but a tougher test was expected when it reached the House Rules Committee. The rules Committee schedules major legislation for House action.

Rep. Leo W. O'Brien (D-N.Y.), acting chairman of the Interior Committee, predicted the Rules Committee would clear the Hawaiian statehood bill without delay. But he also warned that supporters of the bill were ready to try to bypass the Rules Committee if there were delaying tactics.

O'Brien, who shepherded the Alaskan statehood bill through the House last year, said he hoped the Hawaiian bill would be passed by the House before the Easter recess starting March 26, or a short time afterward.

Break For Oldsters

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress was asked Wednesday to make tax exempt up to $5,000 of retirement income a year for persons 65 years of age or older. This was proposed in a bill introduced by Rep. Paul Fino (R-NY).

Smoke-Filled Plane Makes Safe Landing

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — A Capital Airlines Viscount with 20 persons aboard landed safely at Gen. Mitchell Field Wednesday after requesting stand-by fire apparatus at the landing.

Capt. James Hendricks of Minneapolis told the control tower that his instrument panel indicated an electrical short in the airplane and that the fuselage was full of smoke.

On landing, the plane's trouble was diagnosed as a burned-out voltage regulator behind the pilot's compartment.

Boy Survives Plane Crash; Parents, Sisters Killed

NEW YORK (UPI)—"I guess daddy must be dead," 8-year-old Bobby Sullivan said from his hospital bed Wednesday.

But the look on his face seemed to say Bobby knew that not only his father but his entire family had been killed in Tuesday night's East River plane crash. No one told him — and perhaps he was afraid to ask.

Bobby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sullivan, and his sisters, Patricia, 13, and Joan, 5, were among 65 persons killed in the watery crash of the American Airliner.

Hospital attendants and newsmen did not want to press the game youngster's courage too far. But attendants said that by his questions and comments, Bobby seemed to know his family had been killed.

Bobby and his family of Hempstead, N.Y., were returning from a visit to relatives in Chicago, a trip they took at least twice a year. A New York relative, Joseph McNulty, said that "to them flying was just like taking a bus."

Bobby sat next to his mother, Lorraine, 40, in the plane. His father, a World War II navigator and his sisters sat together in the back. Most of the trip was just like a bus ride.

"Then the pilot said the plane would be on the ground in five minutes," Bobby said from his bed in Flushing Hospital. "Then minutes after that I heard a small splash in the water and before I knew it, the plane was in pieces".

Trust-Busters Probe Auto, Steel Industries

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department reported Wednesday that it is currently investigating the automotive and steel industries for possible violations of the anti-trust laws.

Victor B. Hansen, chief of the department's anti-trust division, said in a statement that studies of these industries have been underway "for quite some time."

But he emphasized that the inquiry still is in the investigative stage. So far, Hansen said, "no conclusions have been reached and no legal action is now in preparation for filing."

Earlier in the day, Hansen testified before the joint congressional economic committee, where he also noted that his trust-busters are looking into the automotive field for possible monopolistic control or restraint of trade practices.

Hansen's statement was issued in response to press reports. They sent the stock market down nearly three points with significant drops registered for steel and automotive stocks.

Hansen called the news stories "speculative." He said they were "grossly exaggerated and distorted."

The New York Journal American reported that the government had decided to seek to force General Motors to dispose of one or more of its motor divisions.

GM turns out Cadillacs, Buicks, Oldsmobiles, Pontiacs and Chevrolets as well as buses, trucks and household equipment.

Tawes Opposes Changing Annual Legislative Sessions

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes is against changing Maryland's annual legislative sessions, he said Wednesday.

This just about killed two bills being considered by the legislators. One would have provided for 75-day sessions every year and the other for 60.

The Legislature has been meeting 90 days in the odd years and 30 in even years since 1950. Before that, it met every other year for 90 days.

It is the shortest session which prompted legislators to think a change was in order. They are supposed to be restricted to bills concerning general welfare, emergencies and finance.

However, many local bills have come in and been passed through a disguise in language.

Gov. Tawes said he feels this can be stopped by the Rules Committees of the two houses. All bills in the short session go first to Rules Committee after introduction and it decides if they should go any farther.

"I would at least like to give another short session a try," Gov. Tawes said. "If it doesn't work, I would favor annual sessions of 60 days instead of 75."

All of the proposed longer sessions would be open to all types of legislation.

Rival Movie Censorship Bills Debated

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—In a statement defending his introduction of a bill against obscene movies, Del. Whitmore (D-Anne Arundel) replied Wednesday to a charge that the measure was introduced "to confuse the issue and to hinder" passage of another bill on the subject.

The criticism came from Sen. Bertorelli (D-Balto 1st), who is backing a measure which would authorize state censors to designate certain movies as prohibited for showing to persons under 18.

Whitmore, whose bill would flatly declare that obscene movies could not be legally shown to anyone, said Bertorelli has placed "a false interpretation not only upon the motives of the sponsors but upon the effect of" the measure itself. There are nine co-sponsors of the Whitmore bill.

The Anne Arundel delegate said his bill is stronger than Bertorelli's because the latter is based on "faith in the weakening hands of the censor." Maryland, Virginia, Kansas and New York are the only states with movie censorship boards.

Declaring that movie censorship has been struck down repeatedly by the courts in the last few years, Whitmore added "The time is not far off when all censorship will be outlawed by the courts and his bill will lose what little strength it may now have."

Kennedy Blasts Administration Labor Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell Wednesday called President Eisenhower's labor reform bill the best solution to union - management abuses. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) immediately challenged him.

Kennedy, sponsor of a rival bill, branded the administration legislation as "an open invitation to collusion between corrupt employers and labor racketeers." He said it also would "impose dangerous restrictions on the workers' traditional legitimate rights of free speech and peaceful bargaining."

Mitchell went before Kennedy's Senate labor subcommittee to plead for approval of the administration bill. But before he had finished reading his prepared statement, copies of Kennedy's blast were being distributed to newsmen in the committee room.

Kennedy set forth four ways in which the administration bill, in seeking to correct one evil, would in Kennedy's view open the way for another.

Kennedy's points involved parts of the President's bill which differed from his own. Both would strike at union corruption by requiring public reports on union affairs and secret ballot elections of union officials.

The Eisenhower bill, in addition, would ban secondary boycotts, curb organizational picketing and deny unions access to National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) services when an officer violated the law.

Mininster Changed Plans, Died In Crash

CHICAGO (AP)—The Rev. William A. Meadows, 39, attended a meeting of the Methodist Church's board of lay activities Tuesday in Chicago and planned to take an evening plane to New York.

He changed travel plans in order to make the trip later with two colleagues on the church's television, radio and film commission, a Methodist Church spokesman said Wednesday.

Listed among the missing and presumed dead aboard the downed American Airlines plane were three Methodist pastors from Nashville, Tenn.—the Rev. Royer H. Woodburn, 46, the Rev. W. Carlisle Walton Jr., 40, and the Rev. Mr. Meadows.

Airline Asks Reversal Of Negro Pilot Order

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Denver District Court has been asked to throw out a state commission ruling that Continental Air Lines be forced to hire a Negro pilot.

A suit asking to be freed of the Colorado Anti-Discrimination Commission order was filed by the airline.

Last Dec. 19 the commission ordered Continental to allow Marlon Green, 29, of Lansing, Mich., to enroll in a copilot training class.

Green, a Negro, had complained to the commission that he was not hired as a copilot because of his race.

Tiny Vanguard May Stay Up 2,000 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's tiny Vanguard satellite may stay aloft more than 2,000 years—10 times longer than forecast earlier.

Rear Adm. John T. Hayward, the Navy's research chief, gave that prediction to the House Space Committee Wednesday.

The committee heard too that it was the Navy's Sidewinder missile which caused the Chinese Communists to pull back last year after threatening Nationalist-held Quemoy.

Rep. George P. Miller (D-Calif) said he learned during a recent Far East trip that Nationalist planes fired six of the air-to-air missiles at Communist aircraft and scored 100 per cent hits.

Cabbie Learns "Fare" Brother Gone 50 Years

SOLVESBORG, Sweden (AP)—Taxi driver Ernst Petterson, 50, picked up a passenger at the late night train as he had done for more than 20 years.

The passenger explained in broken Swedish that he wanted a hotel. He was a pleasant man and they chatted on the way.

The passenger joked about his age. He was 72 and had enjoyed the trip from Chicago to Sweden. He ran a plumber's business in Chicago. He was born in Sweden but hadn't been home for more than 50 years. But now he had come back to see his native home before he died.

"Where were you born," Petterson asked.

"In Rydal near here."

"And what's your name?"

"Adolf Petterson."

"Then you must be my brother," Petterson exclaimed.

Adolf Petterson never arrived at the hotel.

Flight Of Atlas No. 20 Success

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—Atlas No. 20 logged a highly successful flight Wednesday in the Air Force's stepped up campaign to develop the mighty intercontinental range ballistic missile.

The 80-foot Atlas, present mainstay of the U.S. missile arsenal, thundered aloft in the morning darkness. It hung in the sky as a white dot of light for more than three minutes before fading.

The Air Force announced later that the missile had a successful flight at a distance less than intercontinental range, but officials did not elaborate.

Before the shoot, sources indicated that the rocket would be another "hot rod"—the missileman's term for a long-range shot at full throttle. However, reports from Washington had it returning from space some 3,400 miles from the launching site.

One of the major objectives of the shoot reportedly was to check the performance of the blunt shaped nose cone as it separated from the main body of the missile high in space.

The warhead, which would house a nuclear device in war, dives in on target at speeds as high as 16,500 miles an hour.

The spectacular launching came on the heels of an announcement by Defense Secretary Neil McElroy that the United States should practically close the ICBM gap with Russia by the end of the year.

Admit Negroes By Next Tuesday, Court Tells Alexandria Schools

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (UPI) —A federal judge told Virginia Wednesday to admit nine more Negro pupils to all-white schools in this metropolitan Washington City by next Tuesday, another heavy blow at segregation.

Alexandria thus appeared likely to be the third major population area of the state to have its schools integrated in rapid - fire order. A total of 21 Negro pupils entered previously all - white schools in Norfolk and Arlington Monday.

Federal Judge Albert V. Bryan, in instructing the Alexandria City School Board to enroll the nine Negroes in two elementary schools and a high school, turned down a request for postponement. He said further delay would "involve many problems."

Fourteen Negroes applied for admission to four white Alexandria schools but Bryan upheld the school board's rejection of five students, three on grounds they lived closer to a Negro school than the white school they asked to attend.

Negroes who entered previously-white schools Monday in Norfolk and Arlington spent another orderly day in classes Wednesday. Police were still assigned to all seven of the newly - integrated schools but the force was cut sharply at Arlington's Stratford Junior High.

There have been no incidents or disturbances reported at the schools since they began the court-ordered integration.

The 80-foot Atlas, present mainstay of the U.S. missile arsenal, thundered aloft in the morning darkness. It hung in the sky as a white dot of light for more than three minutes before fading.

The Air Force announced later that the missile had a successful flight at a distance less than intercontinental range, but officials did not elaborate.

Before the shoot, sources indicated that the rocket would be another "hot rod"—the missileman's term for a long-range shot at full throttle. However, reports from Washington had it returning from space some 3,400 miles from the launching site.

One of the major objectives of the shoot reportedly was to check the performance of the blunt shaped nose cone as it separated from the main body of the missile high in space.

The warhead, which would house a nuclear device in war, dives in on target at speeds as high as 16,500 miles an hour.

The spectacular launching came on the heels of an announcement by Defense Secretary Neil McElroy that the United States should practically close the ICBM gap with Russia by the end of the year.

Admit Negroes By Next Tuesday, Court Tells Alexandria Schools

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (UPI) —A federal judge told Virginia Wednesday to admit nine more Negro pupils to all-white schools in this metropolitan Washington City by next Tuesday, another heavy blow at segregation.

Alexandria thus appeared likely to be the third major population area of the state to have its schools integrated in rapid - fire order. A total of 21 Negro pupils entered previously all - white schools in Norfolk and Arlington Monday.

Federal Judge Albert V. Bryan, in instructing the Alexandria City School Board to enroll the nine Negroes in two elementary schools and a high school, turned down a request for postponement. He said further delay would "involve many problems."

Fourteen Negroes applied for admission to four white Alexandria schools but Bryan upheld the school board's rejection of five students, three on grounds they lived closer to a Negro school than the white school they asked to attend.

Negroes who entered previously-white schools Monday in Norfolk and Arlington spent another orderly day in classes Wednesday. Police were still assigned to all seven of the newly - integrated schools but the force was cut sharply at Arlington's Stratford Junior High.

There have been no incidents or disturbances reported at the schools since they began the court-ordered integration.

227 Fire Hazards Found In 24 Annapolis Schools

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—City aldermen are studying a report in which fire safety inspectors recommended that use of certain Annapolis school buildings be discontinued.

The two inspectors said they found 227 fire hazards or violations in the city's 24 schools.

The report covered four parochial schools, six private schools and 14 public schools. Only four were reported free of violations.

The check was made by Fire Chief Rush I. Lacey and E. Gwynn Bowen Jr., the city's technical inspector. It was ordered by City Council in the wake of a tragic Chicago school fire.

The aldermen received the report early this week and are expected to take action on it at a regular meeting Monday night.

Lacey and Bowen said each of the 227 hazards found were "detrimental to the welfare of the school and its occupants."

They cited overcrowding and inadequate maintenance in many schools in addition to construction deficiencies. They said some of the buildings were built before safety regulations were in effect and other deficient construction occurred without knowledge of city officials concerned.

Some of the construction deficiencies listed were unenclosed stairways, use of combustible scenery for theatrical productions, inadequate fire-resistive separations around hazardous installations and use of combustible materials for wall and ceiling assemblies.

Oil Production Up

LONDON (UPI) — Middle East oil production in 1958 broke all records, with Kuwait leading the way, the Petroleum Information Bureau said Wednesday. Total output was 214,400,000 metric tons, compared with 177,700,000 tons in 1957, the bureau said.

Butler Charges Demos Try To 'Blackjack' Ike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md) accused the Senate Democratic leadership Wednesday of trying to "blackjack" President Eisenhower into taking hasty and unwise foreign policy actions.

He said in a statement that they were doing this by threats that unless the President comes up with new ideas, the Democrats won't support him.

Butler referred particularly to recent statements by Sens. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark), new chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), assistant Senate majority leader.

He said their criticism of the President and the State Department hinted that the United States should "perhaps embrace policies of appeasement" in dealing with the Soviet Union. His statement added:

"This is particularly true with respect to comments on the evacuation of Western troops from West Berlin. We cannot help but view such veiled suggestions as damaging to the interests of the free world. If we buy this brand of appeasement it will be abject surrender to the evil men in the Kremlin. I, for one, am unwilling to bow to international communism."

The expression "frank," did not start with Ben Franklin. It comes from the Old French franc, meaning free.

Man Admits Two Holdups

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two loan companies in nearby Maryland were held up and robbed of about $2,600 within an hour Wednesday. Police said that a short time later they arrested a man and recovered the money.

Capt. Wilson Purdy of the Prince Georges Co. police said a former employe of one of the firms admitted both holdups. The man's name was not disclosed immediately.

Police gave this account:

In the Coral Hills robbery, at about 10:30 a. m., a man approached a clerk, Mrs. Virginia Smiroldo of Upper Marlboro, flashed a nickel-plated revolver, shoved a leather brief case toward her and said: "Virginia, fill it up. I'm not kidding."

The manager, Richard Barnes, was sitting about 20 feet away and started to rise. He eased back into his chair as the man ordered "Don't do anything; I need this money."

The man fled in a car he had borrowed from a Hyattsville dealer last night, substituting plates from his own car for the dealer's.

Barnes and Mrs. Smiroldo said the man was not masked and made no attempt at disguise. They said he resigned his job with the firm in December and had appeared in the office earlier today, seeking to get his job back.

About an hour earlier, a man of the same general description and using identical methods, took $607 from Mrs. Ruth E. Stargel of Hyattsville, a secretary at the Safeway Finance Co.

The man was arrested less than a half hour after the second robbery. Police said the money was found in the man's car.

Marylander Named South Africa Envoy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower Wednesday nominated Philip K. Crowe to be ambassador to the Union of South Africa.

Crowe, a 51-year-old Republican from Easton, Md., has been a special assistant to Secretary of State Dulles since 1957. Before that he was U. S. ambassador to Ceylon.

The President also sent to the Senate the nominations of 308 new postmasters and these other nominations:

Raymond A. Hare of Martinsburg, W. Va., to be U.S. ambassador to Yemen, while continuing as U.S. ambassador to the United Arab Republic (Egypt and Syria). Yemen recently federated with the UAR.

Four Slightly Hurt When Trolley Upsets

BALTIMORE (AP) — A trolley swinging into a turning circle overturned today. Four of the 27 persons aboard were injured, none sufficiently to require hospitalization.

Worse Than Cattle

LONDON (UPI) — Lord Shepherd told the House of Lords Tuesday night London's subway riders are worse off than cattle. "If a farmer were to put cattle into railway trucks as we put human beings (into subways), he would be put up before a magistrate with a heavy fine," Lord Shepherd said.

The United States averages 175,000 forest fires a year, the National Geographic Magazine says. People start about 90 per cent of them, mostly through carelessness.

Man Is Given One Year In Jail For Carrying Concealed Weapon

A 58-year-old local man, with a long criminal record, received two separate jail sentences yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick sentenced the man to one year in the Maryland House of Correction on a charge of carrying a concealed and deadly weapon, six months on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and fined him $100 and costs on a charge of operating a motor vehicle on a revoked license. The time is to be served concurrently.

The man, George Lester Beeman Sr., of 608 Virginia Avenue, was arrested Tuesday by Cpl. Harry S. Bosley and Trooper R. H. Graham of the Maryland State Police.

Cpl. Bosley, who placed the charges against the man, informed the court yesterday that Beeman was arrested while driving a stolen car belonging to James Langley, of 52 Bowery Street, Frostburg.

Police said Langley reported his automobile stolen Saturday night and that information was received that the car was parked on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company property.

State Police on Monday placed a stake-out on the vehicle and Tuesday was the first time they stopped Beeman driving the car.

When arrested he was carrying a .32 special, Cpl. Bosley said.

The man pleaded guilty to all three charges and admitted driving the car approximately 200 miles since the theft.

Cpl. Bosley in his testimony pointed out that Beeman has a long criminal record and at one time was sentenced to 20 years on an armed robbery charge.

The arrest of Beeman cleared the "stolen car" docket at the LaVale barracks and marked the fifth car recovered by State Police in three days.

On Monday, Trooper Harry J. Garcia made three arrests on U. S. Route 40 involving stolen cars and earlier last night State Police found another car stolen in Morgantown, W. Va.

Trooper Garcia first arrested two boys, one 16 and the other 17, on Town Hill Mountain. The boys had stolen the car in Baltimore and were headed westward when the trooper nabbed them. Both boys are being held in the detention quarters at the Allegany County Infirmary.

Later the trooper took into custody an escapee from a medium security prison at Huttonsville, W. Va., after he had wrecked the car he stole.

The escapee, Robert W. Johnson, 19, is being held in the Allegany County Jail for West Virginia authorities.

Mason Is Fined On Motor Charges

James J. Mason, former city police officer, was fined a total of $30 and costs on two motor vehicle charges yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court.

Magistrate Morris Baron fined Mason $15 on a charge of reckless driving and $15 on a charge of failing to stop at a stop sign.

However, a third charge, operating a motor vehicle with tags issued to another car, was dismissed by the magistrate for lack of evidence.

Mason, through his attorney, Harold Naughton, entered pleas of not guilty to all three charges.

St. Mary's Sets Annual Dinner

Preliminary plans are being outlined for the annual spaghetti supper to be served Sunday, March 1, at St. Mary's Catholic Church.

General chairmen of the affair are Rev. Charles W. Bogan, pastor, and Joseph F. Divico, while the co-chairmen are Michael F. McDade and Thomas E. Carroll.

Divico announced yesterday that the supper will be served from 1 to 7 p. m. in the parish hall.

The affair has been held for more than 30 years by the parish.

The meal is prepared by women of Italian ancestry in the Cumberland area. Divico pointed out that although other women of the parish assist with serving the meal and other duties, all of the spaghetti is prepared by Italians.

Proceeds of the affair will be turned over to the parish's building fund. Father Bogan announced last week that steps are being taken to construct a new school, convent and rectory for the parish.

Divico said a general meeting will be held this Sunday at 9 p. m. in the parish hall to discuss arrangements for the supper.

Merger Seen Possible For Refractories Firm

Kaiser Aluminum Corporation and the Mexico Refractories Company of Mexico, Mo., confirmed yesterday they have entered into negotiations which may lead to a merger for the purpose of combining their business.

The merger will attract interest in this area since the Big Savage Refractories at Zihlman is a division of the Mexico company.

Man Is Given One Year In Jail For Carrying Concealed Weapon

A 58-year-old local man, with a long criminal record, received two separate jail sentences yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick sentenced the man to one year in the Maryland House of Correction on a charge of carrying a concealed and deadly weapon, six months on a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and fined him $100 and costs on a charge of operating a motor vehicle on a revoked license. The time is to be served concurrently.

The man, George Lester Beeman Sr., of 608 Virginia Avenue, was arrested Tuesday by Cpl. Harry S. Bosley and Trooper R. H. Graham of the Maryland State Police.

Cpl. Bosley, who placed the charges against the man, informed the court yesterday that Beeman was arrested while driving a stolen car belonging to James Langley, of 52 Bowery Street, Frostburg.

Police said Langley reported his automobile stolen Saturday night and that information was received that the car was parked on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company property.

State Police on Monday placed a stake-out on the vehicle and Tuesday was the first time they stopped Beeman driving the car.

When arrested he was carrying a .32 special, Cpl. Bosley said.

The man pleaded guilty to all three charges and admitted driving the car approximately 200 miles since the theft.

Cpl. Bosley in his testimony pointed out that Beeman has a long criminal record and at one time was sentenced to 20 years on an armed robbery charge.

The arrest of Beeman cleared the "stolen car" docket at the LaVale barracks and marked the fifth car recovered by State Police in three days.

On Monday, Trooper Harry J. Garcia made three arrests on U. S. Route 40 involving stolen cars and earlier last night State Police found another car stolen in Morgantown, W. Va.

Trooper Garcia first arrested two boys, one 16 and the other 17, on Town Hill Mountain. The boys had stolen the car in Baltimore and were headed westward when the trooper nabbed them. Both boys are being held in the detention quarters at the Allegany County Infirmary.

Later the trooper took into custody an escapee from a medium security prison at Huttonsville, W. Va., after he had wrecked the car he stole.

The escapee, Robert W. Johnson, 19, is being held in the Allegany County Jail for West Virginia authorities.

Mason Is Fined On Motor Charges

James J. Mason, former city police officer, was fined a total of $30 and costs on two motor vehicle charges yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court.

Magistrate Morris Baron fined Mason $15 on a charge of reckless driving and $15 on a charge of failing to stop at a stop sign.

However, a third charge, operating a motor vehicle with tags issued to another car, was dismissed by the magistrate for lack of evidence.

Mason, through his attorney, Harold Naughton, entered pleas of not guilty to all three charges.

St. Mary's Sets Annual Dinner

Preliminary plans are being outlined for the annual spaghetti supper to be served Sunday, March 1, at St. Mary's Catholic Church.

General chairmen of the affair are Rev. Charles W. Bogan, pastor, and Joseph F. Divico, while the co-chairmen are Michael F. McDade and Thomas E. Carroll.

Divico announced yesterday that the supper will be served from 1 to 7 p. m. in the parish hall.

The affair has been held for more than 30 years by the parish.

The meal is prepared by women of Italian ancestry in the Cumberland area. Divico pointed out that although other women of the parish assist with serving the meal and other duties, all of the spaghetti is prepared by Italians.

Proceeds of the affair will be turned over to the parish's building fund. Father Bogan announced last week that steps are being taken to construct a new school, convent and rectory for the parish.

Divico said a general meeting will be held this Sunday at 9 p. m. in the parish hall to discuss arrangements for the supper.

Merger Seen Possible For Refractories Firm

Kaiser Aluminum Corporation and the Mexico Refractories Company of Mexico, Mo., confirmed yesterday they have entered into negotiations which may lead to a merger for the purpose of combining their business.

The merger will attract interest in this area since the Big Savage Refractories at Zihlman is a division of the Mexico company.

Your Child's Behavior At Six Months

If it were possible to buy an ounce of magic guaranteed to protect children from accidents, parents would hasten to purchase it. There is, of course, no such magic formula; but there does exist much new knowledge about the prevention of childhood accidents, points out Joanne Reitz, University of Maryland Extension home management specialist, and former Allegany County agent.

Studies indicate that certain types of accidents are more likely to occur at one stage of a child's development than at another. Although no two children are alike, and no two grow and develop at just the same rate, a knowledge of children's typical growth and behavior will help parents foresee potential accident situations.

Parents should remember these typical behavior characteristics of a child up to six months and should take the necessary precautions, the specialist urged:

They begin to wiggle and roll from side to side. The side of the crib must be kept up at all times. It is important to have a firm mattress that fits the crib properly. Babies should not be left alone on anything from which they might fall.

They'll shift position more often. See that the bars of the crib are so spaced that they can't catch their head between them.

The may start to suck on toys, crib slats and other painted objects. Paints containing lead must not be used when refinishing furniture, toys or anything else they're likely to put in their mouth. Avoid having small objects near their reach.

They'll be helpless in water for some time to come. They should not be left alone in the tub at any time for any reason whatever.

Different projects to raise money also are to be discussed.

Concluding the evening a social hour will be held with Mrs. Lnidner and Mrs. Vi Gibson hostesses.

Guild To Discuss 2d Chance

"Taking advantage of our second chance" will be the theme of the dinner meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild of Centre Street Methodist Church, which is to be held February 12 at 6 o'clock.

Miss Geradine Pritchard will speak of Christian man's second chance in the North American area, introducing the color film, "North American Neighbors." John Spoerl, a sophomore at Allegany High School, will serve as projectionist. The devotionals will be led by Mrs. Nina Suter and Miss Nell Hawkins is to give the invocation.

A business session will be conducted by Miss Garnet Fazenbaker. At that time Miss Eudora Jochum will report on the project table at the WSCS luncheon and the rummage sale to be held the latter part of March.

Practical Nurses To Meet Friday

John G. Burke will preside at the monthly meeting of the Allegany-Garrett County Licensed Practical Nurses Association, which will be held tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Charles Floto, 36 Hawthorne Avenue.

Mr., Mrs. Casper Becker Married 52 Years Today

Mr. and Mrs. Casper M. Becker will observe their 52nd wedding anniversary quietly at their home, 130 Hanover Street, today, without any formal celebration.

The former Miss Elmar Hollenberger, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Hollenberger of Bean's Cove, Pa., became the bride of Mr. Becker, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Becker, natives of Cumberland, February 5, 1907. The ceremony was solemnized in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, with Father Sullivan officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Becker are the parents of five children. They are Vincent Becker, Gilbert Becker, Cumberland; Lawrence Becker of New Brighton, Pa.; DeSales Becker, Silver Spring; and Mrs. Bruce (Isabel) Dawson, of Rawlings. They have six grandsons, one great-grandson and one great-granddaughter.

One of ten children, all living, and ranging from 76 to Father Frederick Becker, 56, Mr. Becker is a retired employe of the old Cumberland Laundry, where he worked for 43½ years. For the next two years he operated the Gurley Bowling Alleys. He laughingly reports that now he "just sits and eats," although he also pursues his hobby of hunting. Mrs. Becker does most of her own housework and enjoys reading and sewing.

The ceremony was solemnized in St. Patrick's Catholic Church, with Father Sullivan officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Becker are the parents of five children. They are Vincent Becker, Gilbert Becker, Cumberland; Lawrence Becker of New Brighton, Pa.; DeSales Becker, Silver Spring; and Mrs. Bruce (Isabel) Dawson, of Rawlings. They have six grandsons, one great-grandson and one great-granddaughter.

One of ten children, all living, and ranging from 76 to Father Frederick Becker, 56, Mr. Becker is a retired employe of the old Cumberland Laundry, where he worked for 43½ years. For the next two years he operated the Gurley Bowling Alleys. He laughingly reports that now he "just sits and eats," although he also pursues his hobby of hunting. Mrs. Becker does most of her own housework and enjoys reading and sewing.

Two Men Receive Heavy Fines For Selling Deer

Two Hancock area men Tuesday were convicted of illegally selling and possessing deer meat, and wardens said they drew the heaviest fines ever assessed for game law violations in Maryland.

Regional Game Warden Josept A. Minke said the defendants, Donald Thompson and Norman Trail, were tried by Magistrate Jesse Shank in Williamsport and fined a total of $3,000.

Thompson, Minke said, was charged with possessing and selling ten deer and was fined $1,750, and Trail, with possessing and selling eight deer. The latter drew a fine of $1,250.

The state's witnesses were Charles Green, district game warden of Baltimore County, who acted as a special investigator, and Carl Plant, a special investigator for the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

According to Plant and Green, they purchased two deer from the defendants on December 28, three on January 23, and five on January 29. They said they paid $25 for average-sized deer and $30 for the large ones.

The two officers testified the defendants also delivered several more deer to them in Winchester and added they will face federal charges for violation of the Lacy Act, transporting illegal game from one state to another.

Minke stated the cases grew out of evidence that there was considerable night hunting going on in the Hancock area last fall.

District Game Warden Lawrence Fiorita informed Minke at the time that he was unable to cope with the operation due to ts wide scope.

The wardens believe that there were from ten to 15 persons engaged in the hunting, but said only the two defendants were doing the selling.

District Game Wardens David Gross of Sharpsburg and Claude Cline of Hagerstown were assigned to this area, and succeeded in apprehending several spotlight hunting.

But Minke added that the illegal hunting continued during the day as well as night, and the wardens suspected the deer were being sold, as a score must have been killed, according to the evidence they could find.

Thompson, a furloughed Fairchild Aircraft Company employe, works part-time as a butcher in a Hancock market. Trail is unemployed, Minke said.

James F. Strine, Hagerstown, Washington County state's attorney, assisted in the prosecution.

Thompson was represented by Howard Kaylor, former Washington County state's attorney. Kaylor indicated an appeal would be filed and furnished bond in the amount of $4,000.

First Mechanized Post Office Ordered

The office at Providence, R.I., will be built and equipped at an estimated cost of 20 million dollars.

New machinery will include devices to cancel mail at high speed, route mail to destinations automatically and speed handling of parcel post and bulk mail.

Broadcasting Firm Formed

A new corporation has been formed for broadcasting purposes. The files of the State Tax Commission list it as the Allegany County Broadcasting Company.

According to the certificate filed with the commission, the directors are Hollis M. Seavey and Anne M. Seavey of Washington and Edward H. Bradford, no address listed.

The three incorporators are Milton E. Hartley, Robert M. Dougherty and George A. Fisher, of the Corporation Trust, Inc., Washington.

The resident agent is listed as the Corporation Trust, Inc., 10 Light Street, Baltimore.

Attempts to uncover the proposed operation were made yesterday, but the attorney for the company said no details could be released at this time.

In another transaction involving radio, the Cumberland Valley Broadcasting Corporation has taken an option on about ten acres of land near Westernport to erect a tower.

Horace P. Whitworth Jr., attorney for the company which operates WTBO in Cumberland, said the purchase of the land depends on obtaining approval from the Federal Communications Commission.

Zoning Appeals Board Will Hear Two Cases

Two appeals will be heard tonight at 8 o'clock in City Hall by the Board of Zoning Appeals of Cumberland.

C. E. Howell, agent for the A&P Market, had applied to the city building engineer to occupy four and a half lots of the F. T. Click sub-division on Greene Street for additional parking space for the supermarket there.

Harold Shaner, 500 Park Street, made applications to build on part of Lots 6, 7 and 8 of Myrtle Street, Eichner Addition.

The building would be one-story, with a concrete block foundation and frame and aluminum walls. The lots are owned by H. D. Robertson, and Shaner is listed as the prospective owner.

Former Local Man Forms Law Firm

William F. Mosner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Mosner, this city, has announced the formation of a law partnership with Gordon G. Power.

The firm, under the name of Power and Mosner, will have offices at 34 West Chesapeake Street, Towson.

Mosner has been in the general practice of law in Towson after having served several years as an assistant U. S. district attorney for Maryland. He and his family reside in Towson.

County Homemaking Guide Gets Attention

A homemaking guide for junior high school students, which was compiled several years ago by home economics teachers of Allegany County, has gained recognition throughout the nation.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of public schools of the county, has received a letter from a school official in Carmichael, Calif., in regard to the guide.

Mrs. Violet Isenberg, director of instructional services of Arden-Carmichael Union School District, pointed out in the letter the guide "has been a tremendous help for our homemaking committee, and we are grateful to you and your committee for the privilege of sharing your material . . ."

She added that their committee is "seeking your permission for the inclusion of two or three of your units in the 7th and 8th grades only, in our district guide, with full acknowledgement to the Allegany County Public Schools. We feel that they are outstanding and impossible to improve upon."

The guide was compiled under the direction of Ruth C. McColly, supervisor of home economics education of county schools, who said that at least 100 copies of the guide have been forwarded to school officials throughout the country.

Copies were sent to school education meetings, and school officials were given an opportunity to read over the material and get new ideas or suggestions on ways to teach the subject matter.

Miss McColly said yesterday that a number of letters of commendation have been received on the guide, which took many hours of work to compile.

A film entitled "Service For The Living" will be shown at the meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at 12:15 p. m. today at Central YMCA.

Youth Bible Quiz Slated On Saturday

The semi-finals of the Tri-State Youth for Christ Bible quiz will begin Saturday at 7:45 p.m. at the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Teams from Fort Hill High School, Allegany and Salisbury will compete, according to Dwight I. Evans, director, who said the first series of quizzes during this month and March will be based upon team competition, while the second series in April and May will include team and individual competition.

The rally program will include audience singing, vocal and instrumental music, presentation of the club attendance trophy and a "Challenge to Youth," by Rev. Harlan M. Eck, pastor of Flatwoods Baptist Church, Vanderbilt, Pa.

Mr. Evans said the quiz will be based on the Gospel of Luke, and the Epistle to the Galatians. The members of the teams are: Fort Hill, Robert Mertens, Margaret Yergan, Beverly Murray, Atlee Smoot, Carol Jean Pardew and John Nelson, substitute; Allegany, David Trumbull, Mary Susan Smith, Hazel Deetz, Gary Durr, and Ernest Nicholis; Salisbury, William Haines, Mable Albright, Lois Miller, Dave Puffinburg, Bonnie Maust and Ferne Maust, substitute.

Six members of the All-Star Team of the local rally will compete in the inter-rally playoff at the Eastern States YFC conference at Ocean City, N.J. The two top youths in the winning club team and the four highest throughout the area will compose the Tri-State area team.

The Ocean City champions will represent the Eastern States Zones in the International finals in July at Winona Lake, Ind.

Pinto Bridge Bill Report Unfavorable

The Senate Finance Committee Tuesday gave an unfavorable report to Senate Bill 180 which would have transferred the Pinto Bridge across the Potomac River from the County Roads Department to the State Roads Commission.

Sen. See said the committee voted 14 to 1 against the measure. All members of the committee were against it but Sen. See, the sponsor.

The finance unit said it did not want to force the SRC to take over any bridge, as the practice might spread to other counties.

The senator said he introduced yesterday in the Senate a bill which would provide an appropriation of $934 annually to the newly-organized Oldtown Volunteer Fire Company.

The county commissioners would include the department in its list of fire company appropriations.

Tuesday, the House of Delegates passed two bills sponsored by the Garrett County delegation, both relating to the County commissioners of that county.

House Bill 101 would increase from $25,000 to $100,000 that the commissioners could spend for County Roads Department equipment without advertising for bids.

House Bill 102 would add a $600 annual expense allowance for each county commissioner, who receives $2,200 a year.

Driscoll Is Named To AFL-CIO Unit

Del. Fred B. Driscoll has been appointed to represent the Barbers International Union on the Government Employes' Council of the AFL-CIO.

He was notified Tuesday of his appointment to the council, which covers all government employes belonging to AFL-CIO locals.

Del. Driscoll served for 20 years as secretary-treasurer of Local 314, Barbers Union, of Cumberland, until last year, when he declined to run because of his expanding legislative duties.

Found Not Guilty

William Riddle of Cumberland was found not guilty yesterday by Magistrate Morris Baron in Trial Magistrates Court on a charge of littering Christie Road near the Cumberland Country Club. Julius E. Schindler was attorney for Riddle and the case was prosecuted by Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason.

Keyser Damage Suit May Go To Jury Today

A $100,000 damage suit being tried in Circuit Court at Keyser, W. Va., against the Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, and Dr. Paul T. Healy at Keyser, is expected to go to the jury sometime today, the fourth day of the trial.

Yesterday a number of witnesses were called by the defense, and attorneys for the plaintiff also placed a couple of other witnesses on the stand. Last night, attorneys indicated the case will be argued this morning and should go to the jury by mid-afternoon.

Mrs. Freda Phares, 41, of Fort Ashby, is seeking $75,000 damages, claiming she was permanently injured when dropped to the floor of a hospital room while being transferred from a litter to a bed after giving birth to a baby January 20, 1957. Her husband, Robert Phares, wants $25,000 for the loss of his wife's services.

Dr. Robert R. Brown, Romney physician, testified yesterday that he examined Mrs. Phares October 1, 1957 after she complained of pain in the left side of the body and right side of the head. He blamed overweight.

Dr. Healy, one of the defendants, described Mrs. Phares' transfer from the delivery room and said her body did not strike the floor during the litter-to-bed operation. He said his hands were under the patient, supporting her in the transfer.

Dr. Healy stated there was no visible damage to Mrs. Phares, and that he examined her later in the day. She only complained of normal post-delivery pains, he said. There were no marks of injuries, "and nothing unusual later," he said.

Donald C. Hott and Joseph A. Blundon, Keyser attorneys who represent the plaintiffs, rested their case shortly after the noon recess Tuesday.

Mrs. Phares said Dr. Healy was transferring her from the four-wheeled litter to the bed when, in some manner, he let her drop to the floor. She said she hit on the back of her neck and right shoulder.

Sitting in front of the jury with a harness around her neck and in traction, she claimed she had been in great pain since the accident, and was able to do only a little housework and had difficulty in taking care of her baby.

W. Earle Cobey, local attorney for the defendants, called three other physicians to testify yesterday. They included Dr. T. T. Hoffman, Dr. T. C. Giffin and Dr. Harry Coffman, all of Keyser.

Pittsburgh Plate Declares Dividend

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The board of directors of the strikebound Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. has declared a quarterly dividend of 55 cents a share, payable March 20 to stockholders of record Feb. 27.

Some 13,000 members of the United Glass and Ceramic Workers have been on strike 121 days at nine Pittsburgh Plate plants across the nation.

State Personnel

Only Baltimore City now has an urban renewal program. It is necessary to amend the state constitution to extend it to other charter forms of government because projects to rehabilitate slum areas involve condemnation of property and land.

Maryland's three southernmost counties, Calvert, Charles and St. Marys, and the farthest west, Garrett, will be the only ones in the state where women may be excused from jury duty after House action on another bill.

The bill also eliminated Garrett and Howard counties as the last diehards in the state against women serving on juries at all.

PSC Revision Sought

Among new proposals received was a package to revise the Public Service Commission. The three bills are the result of a study by a special Legislative Council subcommittee.

One would raise the salary of the commission chairman from $9,000 to $15,000 a year and specify that it is a full time job and require that one of the three members be a certified public accountant.

The third would limit the utilities to including their expenses for hearings as part of their overall financial condition to only what the People's Counsel spends. It also would permit the commission in determining fair and reasonable rates to consider that an increase might "place the public service company at a competitive disadvantage."

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court by Raymond Kipe vs. Ellen Kipe.

Commissioners Buy Devices For Wardens

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has voted to purchase two devices called "ketchalls" for use by the two dog wardens in rounding up stray dogs.

A low bid of the Monarch Printing Company to print some 7,000 ledger sheets in three different sizes for $197.25 was approved by the commissioners Tuesday. The only other bidder, Commercial Press, submitted a price of $225.

W. Perry Shaffer, 440 Walnut Street, submitted an application to the county commissioners for consideration for the position as supervisor of the donable food program. Commissioner John J. Rowan said his application would be considered at the proper time. Grant A. Wiebel submitted his resignation from the post last Friday but the effective date has never been established.

The commissioners instructed the County Civil Service Board to conduct an examination for the position of orderly at the county institutions.

A complaint from Walter Miller about poor drainage at Dogwood Flat in the Barton area was referred to County Roads Supervisor Harry T. Skelly for investigation.

Jesse Jacobs, a fire investigator for the state fire marshal, submitted to the county commissioners copies of letters he had sent to the principals of eight parochial schools in Allegany County concerning elimination of fire hazards.

Robinson Held For Grand Jury Action

Andrew L. Robinson, 48, of 118 South Lee Street, was ordered held for action of the April term of the grand jury following a hearing yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court on a larceny charge.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick conducted the preliminary hearing and set bond at $500. Robinson was ordered committed to the County Jail in default of bond.

The local man has been charged with the theft of liquor and a shotgun valued at $175 from Geatz's Restaurant and Tavern, Paca Street, on January 15.

Robinson was arrested January 26 by Detective Kenneth Morrissey. County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya represented the state at yesterday's hearing.

County Homemaking Guide Gets Attention

A homemaking guide for junior high school students, which was compiled several years ago by home economics teachers of Allegany County, has gained recognition throughout the nation.

Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of public schools of the county, has received a letter from a school official in Carmichael, Calif., in regard to the guide.

Mrs. Violet Isenberg, director of instructional services of Arden-Carmichael Union School District, pointed out in the letter the guide "has been a tremendous help for our homemaking committee, and we are grateful to you and your committee for the privilege of sharing your material . . ."

She added that their committee is "seeking your permission for the inclusion of two or three of your units in the 7th and 8th grades only, in our district guide, with full acknowledgement to the Allegany County Public Schools. We feel that they are outstanding and impossible to improve upon."

The guide was compiled under the direction of Ruth C. McColly, supervisor of home economics education of county schools, who said that at least 100 copies of the guide have been forwarded to school officials throughout the country.

Copies were sent to school education meetings, and school officials were given an opportunity to read over the material and get new ideas or suggestions on ways to teach the subject matter.

Miss McColly said yesterday that a number of letters of commendation have been received on the guide, which took many hours of work to compile.

Youth Bible Quiz Slated On Saturday

The semi-finals of the Tri-State Youth for Christ Bible quiz will begin Saturday at 7:45 p.m. at the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street.

Teams from Fort Hill High School, Allegany and Salisbury will compete, according to Dwight I. Evans, director, who said the first series of quizzes during this month and March will be based upon team competition, while the second series in April and May will include team and individual competition.

The rally program will include audience singing, vocal and instrumental music, presentation of the club attendance trophy and a "Challenge to Youth," by Rev. Harlan M. Eck, pastor of Flatwoods Baptist Church, Vandervilt, Pa.

Mr. Evans said the quiz will be based on the Gospel of Luke, and the Epistle to the Galatians. The members of the teams are: Fort Hill, Robert Mertens, Margaret Yergan, Beverly Murray, Atlee Smoot, Carol Jean Pardew and John Nelson, substitute; Allegany, David Trumbull, Mary Susan Smith, Hazel Deetz, Gary Durr, and Ernest Nicholis; Salisbury, William Haines, Mable Albright, Lois Miller, Dave Puffinburg, Bonnie Maust and Ferne Maust, substitute.

Six members of the All-Star Team of the local rally will compete in the inter-rally playoff at the Eastern States YFC conference at Ocean City, N.J. The two top youths in the winning club team and the four highest throughout the area will compose the Tri-State area team.

The Ocean City champions will represent the Eastern States Zones in the International finals in July at Winona Lake, Ind.

Pinto Bridge Bill Report Unfavorable

The Senate Finance Committee Tuesday gave an unfavorable report to Senate Bill 180 which would have transferred the Pinto Bridge across the Potomac River from the County Roads Department to the State Roads Commission.

Sen. See said the committee voted 14 to 1 against the measure. All members of the committee were against it but Sen. See, the sponsor.

The finance unit said it did not want to force the SRC to take over any bridge, as the practice might spread to other counties.

The senator said he introduced yesterday in the Senate a bill which would provide an appropriation of $934 annually to the newly-organized Oldtown Volunteer Fire Company.

The county commissioners would include the department in its list of fire company appropriations.

Tuesday, the House of Delegates passed two bills sponsored by the Garrett County delegation, both relating to the County commissioners of that county.

House Bill 101 would increase from $25,000 to $100,000 that the commissioners could spend for County Roads Department equipment without advertising for bids.

House Bill 102 would add a $600 annual expense allowance for each county commissioner, who receives $2,200 a year.

Driscoll Is Named To AFL-CIO Unit

Del. Fred B. Driscoll has been appointed to represent the Barbers International Union on the Government Employes' Council of the AFL-CIO.

He was notified Tuesday of his appointment to the council, which covers all government employes belonging to AFL-CIO locals.

Del. Driscoll served for 20 years as secretary-treasurer of Local 314, Barbers Union, of Cumberland, until last year, when he declined to run because of his expanding legislative duties.

Found Not Guilty

William Riddle of Cumberland was found not guilty yesterday by Magistrate Morris Baron in Trial Magistrates Court on a charge of littering Christie Road near the Cumberland Country Club. Julius E. Schindler was attorney for Riddle and the case was prosecuted by Assistant State's Attorney Donald W. Mason.

Keyser Damage Suit May Go To Jury Today

A $100,000 damage suit being tried in Circuit Court at Keyser, W. Va., against the Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser, and Dr. Paul T. Healy at Keyser, is expected to go to the jury sometime today, the fourth day of the trial.

Yesterday a number of witnesses were called by the defense, and attorneys for the plaintiff also placed a couple of other witnesses on the stand. Last night, attorneys indicated the case will be argued this morning and should go to the jury by mid-afternoon.

Mrs. Freda Phares, 41, of Fort Ashby, is seeking $75,000 damages, claiming she was permanently injured when dropped to the floor of a hospital room while being transferred from a litter to a bed after giving birth to a baby January 20, 1957. Her husband, Robert Phares, wants $25,000 for the loss of his wife's services.

Dr. Robert R. Brown, Romney physician, testified yesterday that he examined Mrs. Phares October 1, 1957 after she complained of pain in the left side of the body and right side of the head. He blamed overweight.

Dr. Healy, one of the defendants, described Mrs. Phares' transfer from the delivery room and said her body did not strike the floor during the litter-to-bed operation. He said his hands were under the patient, supporting her in the transfer.

Dr. Healy stated there was no visible damage to Mrs. Phares, and that he examined her later in the day. She only complained of normal post-delivery pains, he said. There were no marks of injuries, "and nothing unusual later," he said.

Donald C. Hott and Joseph A. Blundon, Keyser attorneys who represent the plaintiffs, rested their case shortly after the noon recess Tuesday.

Mrs. Phares said Dr. Healy was transferring her from the four-wheeled litter to the bed when, in some manner, he let her drop to the floor. She said she hit on the back of her neck and right shoulder.

Sitting in front of the jury with a harness around her neck and in traction, she claimed she had been in great pain since the accident, and was able to do only a little housework and had difficulty in taking care of her baby.

W. Earle Cobey, local attorney for the defendants, called three other physicians to testify yesterday. They included Dr. T. T. Hoffman, Dr. T. C. Giffin and Dr. Harry Coffman, all of Keyser.

Pittsburgh Plate Declares Dividend

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The board of directors of the strikebound Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. has declared a quarterly dividend of 55 cents a share, payable March 20 to stockholders of record Feb. 27.

Some 13,000 members of the United Glass and Ceramic Workers have been on strike 121 days at nine Pittsburgh Plate plants across the nation.

at the 1960 election if the Senate enacts it.

Only Baltimore City now has an urban renewal program. It is necessary to amend the state constitution to extend it to other charter forms of government because projects to rehabilitate slum areas involve condemnation of property and land.

Maryland's three southernmost counties, Calvert, Charles and St. Marys, and the farthest west, Garrett, will be the only ones in the state where women may be excused from jury duty after House action on another bill.

The bill also eliminated Garrett and Howard counties as the last diehards in the state against women serving on juries at all.

PSC Revision Sought

Among new proposals received was a package to revise the Public Service Commission. The three bills are the result of a study by a special Legislative Council subcommittee.

One would raise the salary of the commission chairman from $9,000 to $15,000 a year and specify that it is a full time job and require that one of the three members be a certified public accountant.

The third would limit the utilities to including their expenses for hearings as part of their overall financial condition to only what the People's Counsel spends. It also would permit the commission in determining fair and reasonable rates to consider that an increase might "place the public service company at a competitive disadvantage."

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court by Raymond Kipe vs. Ellen Kipe.

Commissioners Buy Devices For Wardens

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has voted to purchase two devices called "ketchalls" for use by the two dog wardens in rounding up stray dogs.

A low bid of the Monarch Printing Company to print some 7,000 ledger sheets in three different sizes for $197.25 was approved by the commissioners Tuesday. The only other bidder, Commercial Press, submitted a price of $225.

W. Perry Shaffer, 440 Walnut Street, submitted an application to the county commissioners for consideration for the position as supervisor of the donable food program. Commissioner John J. Rowan said his application would be considered at the proper time. Grant A. Wiebel submitted his resignation from the post last Friday but the effective date has never been established.

The commissioners instructed the County Civil Service Board to conduct an examination for the position of orderly at the county institutions.

A complaint from Walter Miller about poor drainage at Dogwood Flat in the Barton area was referred to County Roads Supervisor Harry T. Skelly for investigation.

Jesse Jacobs, a fire investigator for the state fire marshal, submitted to the county commissioners copies of letters he had sent to the principals of eight parochial schools in Allegany County concerning elimination of fire hazards.

Robinson Held For Grand Jury Action

Andrew L. Robinson, 48, of 118 South Lee Street, was ordered held for action of the April term of the grand jury following a hearing yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court on a larceny charge.

Magistrate J. Milton Dick conducted the preliminary hearing and set bond at $500. Robinson was ordered committed to the County Jail in default of bond.

The local man has been charged with the theft of liquor and a shotgun valued at $175 from Geatz's Restaurant and Tavern, Paca Street, on January 15.

Robinson was arrested January 26 by Detective Kenneth Morrissey. County Investigator Edwin R. Lilya represented the state at yesterday's hearing.

Mr. Summerfield And The Missiles

It's hard to keep up with Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield these fast-moving days. It was in 1955 that he announced he was going to take the old olive drab paint off the sidewalk mailboxes and paint 'em red, white and blue. He did, too.

Then he started pulling out some of the old style boxes — usable only by pedestrians — and installing the kind you can put letters into from your car. Guess what bright colors he had these new boxes painted? Right.

Every once in a while a buz-size motor car is seen scooting around cities with "U. S. Mail" marking the sides. Same colors, same general idea of modernization. So what's the latest from the Summerfield administration?

Delivery of mail by guided missile, no less. Says he:

"Before man reaches the moon your mail will be delivered within hours from New York to California, England, India, or Australia by missiles." The rockets, naturally, "will be painted with the traditional colors—red, white and blue—of which every American is justly proud."

It was the Greek historian Herodotus who wrote about the Persian postal system of 500 B.C. in these words: "There is no mortal thing faster than these messengers . . . neither snow nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."

Only the last part of that is inscribed across the front of the main Post Office in New York City (Herodotus forgot about birds, didn't he?) In the case of the mail rockets of the future, the snow and rain surely will not offer much trouble; they'll soar far above it.

Racing westward in sunlight, they might easily outdistance the night — dawdling along behind at only 670 mph—and never be gloomy at all!

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Tyranny Of Words

Words do not necessarily convey ideas, not even when strung together into sentences. Words often become perverted by misuse. For instance, the word, liberal, meant, in English, a person who believed in the expansion of human liberties. The liberal recognized the inalienable right of the individual to form the pattern of his own life, to express his ideas and concepts freely without fear or hindrance, to agree with or to differ from the current fashions or the established traditions. The liberal was not necessarily a revolutionary except in the sense that he recognized the rights of others to seek to change the world and his right to like the world as it is.

In current parlance the words, liberal and liberalism, have come to mean so many different points of view that definition is impossible. Essentially liberalism must derive itself from liberty. Professor J. B. Bury in his learned "A History of Freedom of Thought," begins his book with these simple words:

"It is a common saying that thought is free. A man can never be hindered from thinking whatever he chooses so long as he conceals what he thinks. The working of his mind is limited only by the bounds of his experience and the power of his imagination. But this natural liberty of private thinking is of little value. It is unsatisfactory and even painful to the thinker himself, if he is not permitted to communicate his thoughts to others, and it is obviously of no value to his neighbors . . ."

Here then is the essence both of liberalism and of totalitarianism. Liberalism forbids any limitations upon expression of human thought; totalitarianism of any type insists upon limitations and even nullification of the expressions of thought. Liberalism is evidence of a secure society in which men live without fear. Such a society was pre-World War I America. Then an anarchist like Emma Goldman could hire a hall and speak her piece; Eugene V. Debs could run for President as a Socialist; the President of the United States could have Booker T. Washington, a Negro, to lunch and Jewish and Irish comedians could speak in dialects. It was assumed that these deviations from the norm bothered nobody because these were expressions of words not acts of violence.

Current liberalism represents a fear of life, first stimulated by Hitler and the development of the idea of a world of dominant groups and minority groups, instead of individuals living their own lives under the protection of the law. The liberal became, in the United States and to a lesser degree, in Great Britain, a person who believed not in the expansion of the rights of the individual but in increased use of the strong arm of the government to protect the individual in stated rights. Conduct ceased to be a matter of morals and manners and became a matter of legal force and social pressure. Current liberalism is a response to insecurity.

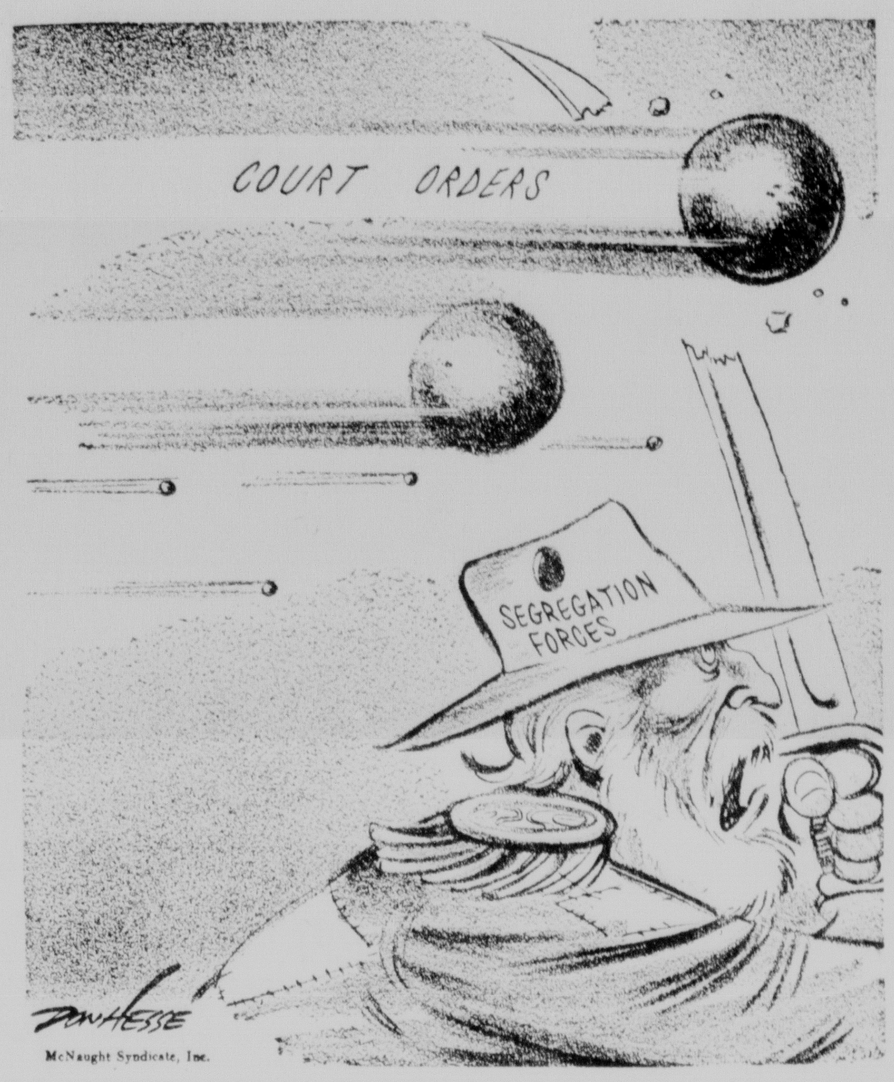

Nothing exists without cause and, of course, this is a period of transition, change and therefore insecurity. Also, the curious form of society which is inaccurately termed democracy in our times stimulates aspirations and hopes of the obliteration of historic social differences and divergencies. In a stable society position is determined by status and all respect status; in an unstable society there is no such concept as status. The opinions of the ignorant are as weighty as those of the learned because one man's vote is as good as another's and power is in the voting machine rather than in competence and ability.

Order, decorum, etiquette, esthetics go by the board and those who are most impudent are most successful. It is this attitude among teen-agers, for instance, which upsets their elders, but the elders rarely recognize that the current breed of teen-agers are only an exaggerated version of their grandmothers who were the flappers of the 1920s.

The 19th Century liberal, being an individualist, walked alone in pride and security. The current liberal, being insecure and afraid, goes in a pack and he tries to conform to the pack. When he finds his ideas challenged, he often turns to his pack for protection. When one of the pack trips, the liberals come to his defense no matter how guilty he may be of stupidity and the pack will use any pressure, even the most vicious economic and political pressures, to suppress freedom of expression.

Ike Drops Hints To Republican Congressmen In Breakfast Chats

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has been letting some interesting tid-bits drop at his breakfasts with Republican Congressmen. They range from portrait painting to balancing the budget, to the sometimes dour visage of Herbert Hoover.

Regarding the budget, Ike has let it be known that he was not as optimistic, privately, about balancing it as he has been publicly.

It was Charlie Halleck of Indiana, the new GOP House leader, who precipitated Ike's budget views by reminding him that it would be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to thwart Democratic demands for greater spending for missiles and defense.

There would also be trouble holding down Congressional spending for housing, rivers and harbors, flood control, and farm price supports, the President was told.

"Everyone in Congress wants to economize at the expense of the other fellow," remarked one breakfast guest. "Nobody is willing to sacrifice his own pet projects. That's the chief problem of keeping the budget balanced."

Ike didn't seem to appreciate this philosophy.

"Well, then, Congress is out of tune with a recent Gallup poll," he remarked. "It showed that the general public favored cuts all down the line in non-defense spending—and that the public wants us to balance the budget."

White House Art

Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts got onto more personal matters by informing the President that she had awakened at 3:30 a. m.

"I was so anxious to be on time for this breakfast that I didn't wait for my alarm clock to go off," she reported.

"By the way," she asked, "have your efforts to encourage the arts, by giving painting kits to the White House staff, been successful? I do not see any evidence of it around here and I have been wondering if this gift to your staff had produced any results," prodded Mrs. Rogers.

The President replied that, except for his own amateur efforts with the brush and easel, he had not heard of any budding artists among the White House staff.

"While we are on this subject, you may have observed that we have a new portrait of former President Herbert Hoover here in the White House," he said. "The old portrait, which was here when I became President and which I never considered a true likeness of Hoover, recently was removed."

Note—The old portrait of the ex-President was painted when he looked as if he was worrying over the depression which marred the latter days of his administration.

Silver-crested Congressman Barrett O'Hara of Chicago undoubtedly meant well in bringing a Negro boy to serve as page in the House of Representatives, but he could have saved the boy a heartache and his colleagues a lot of headaches if he had appointed a colored page some time ago instead of his own grandson.

The appointment of pages, Capitol policemen, doorkeepers, elevator operators and other employes, of which there are some 400 on Capitol Hill, is made according to political patronage. When there's an opening and it's a Congressman's turn to make an appointment, he can appoint anyone he wishes. The appointee must be competent, but no examination is required as in a Congressman's appointment of youngsters to West Point or Annapolis.

Before he brought James Johnson to Washington from Chicago he telephoned Congressman Tad Walter of Pennsylvania, in charge of House patronage.

"Don't send him," Walter warned. "There is no vacancy. It will only cause confusion and hurt feelings."

Walter has appointed Negroes to every post in the Capitol, the House post office, doorkeeper, elevator operators. He also desegregated the Capitol page boys' school five years ago. Neither the Senate nor the House patronage committee has any idea who the boys are, or the color of their skins. Why Not An Amendment To Achieve Integration?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The people of Virginia are not happy over the enforced "integration" of their public school. They feel that they are being coerced into doing something against their will. They have been told the Constitution is "what the people of the United States say it is." But is it always? In no state of the Union have the people ever voted to approve any change in the Constitution that requires "integration" or "desegregation" in the public schools.

Nine men sitting in the Supreme Court of the United States have, however, said that they interpret the Fourteenth Amendment to require "desegregation" in the public schools.

But did the people ever ratify the Fourteenth Amendment by the method prescribed in the Constitution — namely, by two-thirds of both Houses of Congress and by three fourths of the states, either through their legislatures or constitutional conventions?

The historians tell us this wasn't done. The Secretary of State who proclaimed the Fourteenth Amendment in 1868 expressed frankly his doubts as to whether it had been legally ratified.

Upon what were these doubts based? Abraham Lincoln had said the Union was indissoluble and that no state could secede. When the War between the States was over, President Johnson in May 1865 formally proclaimed amnesty to former rebels and established provisional governments in the Southern states. During that summer, new state legislatures and members of Congress were elected. All of these governments in the South — except one — ratified the Thirteenth Amendment, abolishing slavery. Their ratification was accepted as legal. So they were unquestionably in the Union.

When, however, Congress met in December 1865, all the Senators and Representatives from the Southern states, except Tennessee, were excluded from both Houses of Congress. Nevertheless, the Fourteenth Amendment was voted on by Congress and was formally submitted to the states in June 1866. Ten Southern states rejected it.

Congress thereupon passed a law putting the South under military rule and specifically ordering the states to ratify the Amendment or remain excluded from the Union. The President vetoed the bill and called it plainly unconstitutional, but it was passed over his veto. Federal troops took command of the state legislatures in the South.

Under military rule, the Southern states — with their legislatures composed largely of Negroes, because most of the white voters had been disenfranchised — "ratified" the Fourteenth Amendment. W. E. Woodward in his "American History," one of the best known of the standard school textbooks — published in 1936, long before the present acute controversy arose — says the "ratifications were obtained at the point of the bayonet." Historians are unanimous about the facts.

Up to 1896 when the Supreme Court affirmed it, not a single court of importance held that the "separate but equal" idea for public schools was a violation of the Federal Constitution. In fact, the highest courts of several states, including Massachusetts, Ohio and New York, repeatedly upheld the "separate but equal" doctrine as conforming to the Federal Constitution. Even the same Congress which had ordered the Fourteenth Amendment ratified by the South under military coercion passed a law providing for segregated public schools in the District of Columbia. Yet the present Supreme Court of the United States, before its 1954 decision, asked for testimony on the "intent" of the framers of the Fourteenth Amendment, and then called the facts as submitted "inconclusive."

The truth is the present court followed precedent in declining to examine the legality of the process by which the Fourteenth Amendment was allegedly ratified. Every time anyone has tried to get the previous justices to examine the issue — and this has happened several times — the matter has been turned aside as "political." No decision has ever been rendered by the Supreme Court on the merits of the case. This was doubtless due to a feeling that, if ever passed upon, the Amendment would have to be declared illegal.

But why turn the clock back to 1868? This question is often asked, and it is answered by asking another question: why in 1954 turn the clock back to 1896 to invalidate the doctrine of "separate but equal" which had for 58 years been the "law of the land?"

This correspondent attended an integrated public school both in the elementary grades and in high school and would gladly attend one again if he were a student. If a Constitutional Amendment were proposed that would permit the states to deal with this subject, this writer would vote for such an Amendment. If the Fourteenth Amendment were adopted today by the states, and it specifically forbade segregation, this writer would welcome it as an expression of the free will of the people uncoerced by bayonets and representing the desires of the American electorate.

In the absence of any Supreme Court decision to the contrary, the Fourteenth Amendment is assumed to be valid. This means federal court orders based on its provisions must be obeyed. But no state is denied the right to try by legal means any form of circumvention to achieve its objectives. This is lawful until the court in each case specifically rules otherwise.

Meanwhile, can America afford to let the record of fraud and coercion stand as it is before the world — or will a troubled conscience someday make the people of the United States square that record by a lawfully adopted Amendment to the Constitution?

Proxy Battle

By Leslie Gould

There are proxy fights and proxy fights.

At stake—control of the board of the plush Hampshire House, located on the Central Park South "gold coast."

The target of dissenting stockholders—Arnold S. Kirkeby, who has controlled some of the nation's best known hotels.

Heading the opposing stockholders is Edwin L. Weisl, prominent Wall Street attorney and presently counsel to the Lyndon Johnson Senatorial Subcommittee investigating the U. S. Space-Missile program.

The Weisl group is seeking to unseat Kirkeby as board chairman and president as well as a director, along with three supporters who make up a majority of the seven directors.

At issue are Kirkeby's management of the hotel since it went cooperative ten years ago and recent renewal for five years of his management contract by a three to two vote of the board.

Tenants who find themselves involved in the proxy fight include:

Movie stars—Greer Garson, in private life, Mrs. Buddy Fogelson, and John Wayne—Barney Balaban, president of Paramount Pictures; Henry F. Fischbach, chairman of Fischbach & Moore, big electrical contracting firm; Arnold M. Grant, New York and West Coast attorney; Benjamin Sherman, chairman, A.B.C. Vending Corp.; Jules Arpels, the jeweler; Mrs. Henry Ittelson, wife of the late head of CIT Financial Corp; Mrs. Helen H. MacKie, member of the Connecticut legislature, and Frances Kneitel, prominent woman attorney.

The proxy letter of the dissenting shareowners charges:

The roof leaks.

Uniforms of service employes are torn and soiled.

Paint and wallpaper peeling.

Settees in public rooms have broken springs.

Back hallways littered.

Shabby draperies.

Then the letter recites:

"Even the table linen bears garish laundry marks reminiscent of a hash house, while the bar, in the best tradition of a Second Avenue saloon, boasts a television set that blares forth blow by blow every prize fight that comes over the air."

Further, the dissenters charge nepotism, saying:

"The list of relatives and nominees that we have been able to identify is long. Sister, brother-in-law, son, mother, all have been taken care of with apartments."

The greatest indignation seems to be "The Case of the Leaking Roof." Here is the proxy letter's recital:

"Last August a major leak developed in our roof and the apartments below were all but rained out. Dinner guests during a rainstorm frequently found themselves dodging in and out among the rain drops as they fell from the ceilings.

"Of course, Mr. Kirkeby was immediately advised of the condition, but weeks and months passed and no move was made to repair the roof. Then a fire broke out and firemen swarmed through the adjacent apartments. Two tenants, finding their apartments uninhabitable that hectic evening, spent the rest of the night in vacant apartments.

"Imagine their amazement when they received bills from the management for a night's occupancy. The situation would have been ludicrous if it were not so serious.

"But neither fire nor storm has moved management to do anything about this disgraceful condition, and today, six months later, the roof is still not repaired."

Many Octogenarians Can Continue Useful Work

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Life expectancy is now approximately 70 years and many men and women who live beyond this age are well preserved and active. This is understandable because a person must be healthy to reach 70. Many of those with heart trouble or afflictions of other vital organs do not make the grade.

The pages of history are filled with illustriou octogenarians who made valuable contributions after they reached their 80th birthday.

The majority have been leaders in politics and law. The greatest amount of creative work in music, art, literature, and science has been done at an earlier age but it is surprising how many scientists, writers, artists, and musicians continue to be productive into old age.

S. L. Pressey, professor of psychology at Ohio State University, attempted to determine whether present day octogenarians are active. He obtained the records of 329 persons aged 80 or over who are working for pay. The majority had part time or occasional jobs.

The best known of the group are Churchill, Adenauer, and some of our own congressmen and business leaders. These men are assets to their communities because of their experience and knowledge. It has been my contention for years that our senior citizens should go into politics. They have mellowed through the decades and are willing to serve their country without greed and self-ambition. These men are not easily swayed by outside influences.

This study showed that many physicians, lawyers, skilled artisans, farmers, bankers, clerks, barbers, and handy men are productive past 80. The majority limit their work, such as the 88 year old lawyer who kept only his old clients and stuck to wills and settlements of estates. Elderly columnists specialized in reminiscences and an aged clergyman was rehired by his church for the job of visiting the sick and elderly.

There must be thousands of octogenarians doing useful work. Let me know by letter of any others who might serve as examples to encourage some of our senior citizens who have lost hope and are doing nothing.

Mr. Summerfield And The Missiles

It's hard to keep up with Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield these fast-moving days. It was in 1955 that he announced he was going to take the old olive drab paint off the sidewalk mailboxes and paint 'em red, white and blue. He did, too.

Then he started pulling out some of the old style boxes — usable only by pedestrians — and installing the kind you can put letters into from your car. Guess what bright colors he had these new boxes painted? Right.

Every once in a while a buz-size motor car is seen scooting around cities with "U. S. Mail" marking the sides. Same colors, same general idea of modernization. So what's the latest from the Summerfield administration?

Delivery of mail by guided missile, no less. Says he:

"Before man reaches the moon your mail will be delivered within hours from New York to California, England, India, or Australia by missiles." The rockets, naturally, "will be painted with the traditional colors—red, white and blue—of which every American is justly proud."

It was the Greek historian Herodotus who wrote about the Persian postal system of 500 B. C. in these words: "There is no mortal thing faster than these messengers . . . neither snow nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds."

Only the last part of that is inscribed across the front of the main Post Office in New York City (Herodotus forgot about birds, didn't he?) In the case of the mail rockets of the future, the snow and rain surely will not offer much trouble; they'll soar far above it.

Racing westward in sunlight, they might easily outdistance the night — dawdling along behind at only 670 mph—and never be gloomy at all!

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

The Tyranny Of Words

Words do not necessarily convey ideas, not even when strung together into sentences. Words often become perverted by misuse. For instance, the word, liberal, meant, in English, a person who believed in the expansion of human liberties. The liberal recognized the inalienable right of the individual to form the pattern of his own life, to express his ideas and concepts freely without fear or hindrance, to agree with or to differ from the current fashions or the established traditions. The liberal was not necessarily a revolutionary except in the sense that he recognized the rights of others to seek to change the world and his right to like the world as it is.

In current parlance the words, liberal and liberalism, have come to mean so many different points of view that definition is impossible. Essentially liberalism must derive itself from liberty. Professor J. B. Bury in his learned "A History of Freedom of Thought," begins his book with these simple words:

"It is a common saying that thought is free. A man can never be hindered from thinking whatever he chooses so long as he conceals what he thinks. The working of his mind is limited only by the bounds of his experience and the power of his imagination. But this natural liberty of private thinking is of little value. It is unsatisfactory and even painful to the thinker himself, if he is not permitted to communicate his thoughts to others, and it is obviously of no value to his neighbors . . ."

Here then is the essence both of liberalism and of totalitarianism. Liberalism forbids any limitations upon expression of human thought; totalitarianism of any type insists upon limitations and even nullification of the expressions of thought. Liberalism is evidence of a secure society in which men live without fear. Such a society was pre-World War I America. Then an anarchist like Emma Goldman could hire a hall and speak her piece; Eugene V. Debs could run for President as a Socialist; the President of the United States could have Booker T. Washington, a Negro, to lunch and Jewish and Irish comedians could speak in dialects. It was assumed that these deviations from the norm bothered nobody because these were expressions of words not acts of violence.

Current liberalism represents a fear of life, first stimulated by Hitler and the development of the idea of a world of dominant groups and minority groups, instead of individuals living their own lives under the protection of the law. The liberal became, in the United States and to a lesser degree, in Great Britain, a person who believed not in the expansion of the rights of the individual but in increased use of the strong arm of the government to protect the individual in stated rights. Conduct ceased to be a matter of morals and manners and became a matter of legal force and social pressure. Current liberalism is a response to insecurity.

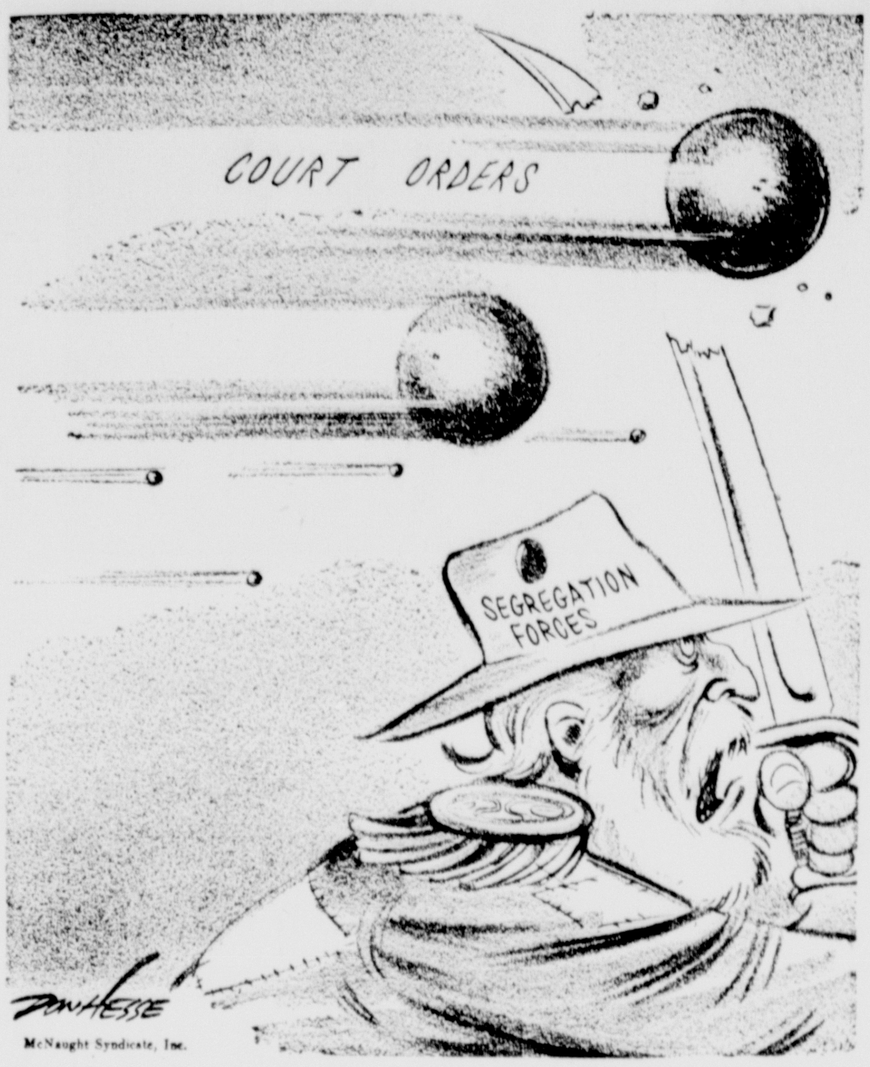

Nothing exists without cause and, of course, this is a period of transition, change and therefore insecurity. Also, the curious form of society which is inaccurately termed democracy in our times stimulates aspirations and hopes of the obliteration of historic social differences and divergencies. In a stable society position is determined by status and all respect status; in an unstable society there is no such concept as status. The opinions of the ignorant are as weighty as those of the learned because one man's vote is as good as another's and power is in the voting machine rather than in competence and ability.

Order, decorum, etiquette, esthetics go by the board and those who are most impudent are most successful. It is this attitude among teen-agers, for instance, which upsets their elders, but the elders rarely recognize that the current breed of teen-agers are only an exaggerated version of their grandmothers who were the flappers of the 1920s.

The 19th Century liberal, being an individualist, walked alone in pride and security. The current liberal, being insecure and afraid, goes in a pack and he tries to conform to the pack. When he finds his ideas challenged, he often turns to his pack for protection. When one of the pack trips, the liberals come to his defense no matter how guilty he may be of stupidity and the pack will use any pressure, even the most vicious economic and political pressures, to suppress freedom of expression.

Ike Drops Hints To Republican Congressmen In Breakfast Chats

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower has been letting some interesting tid-bits drop at his breakfasts with Republican Congressmen. They range from portrait painting to balancing the budget, to the sometimes dour visage of Herbert Hoover.

Regarding the budget, Ike has let it be known that he was not as optimistic, privately, about balancing it as he has been publicly.

It was Charlie Halleck of Indiana, the new GOP House leader, who precipitated Ike's budget views by reminding him that it would be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to thwart Democratic demands for greater spending for missiles and defense.

There would also be trouble holding down Congressional spending for housing, rivers and harbors, flood control, and farm price supports, the President was told.

"Everyone in Congress wants to economize at the expense of the other fellow," remarked one breakfast guest. "Nobody is willing to sacrifice his own pet projects. That's the chief problem of keeping the budget balanced."

Ike didn't seem to appreciate this philosophy.

"Well, then, Congress is out of tune with a recent Gallup poll," he remarked. "It showed that the general public favored cuts all down the line in non-defense spending—and that the public wants us to balance the budget."

White House Art

Congresswoman Edith Nourse Rogers of Massachusetts got onto more personal matters by informing the President that she had awakened at 3:30 a. m.

"I was so anxious to be on time for this breakfast that I didn't wait for my alarm clock to go off," she reported.

"By the way," she asked, "have your efforts to encourage the arts, by giving painting kits to the White House staff, been successful? I do not see any evidence of it around here and I have been wondering if this gift to your staff had produced any results," prodded Mrs. Rogers.

The President replied that, except for his own amateur efforts with the brush and easel, he had not heard of any budding artists among the White House staff.

"While we are on this subject, you may have observed that we have a new portrait of former President Herbert Hoover here in the White House," he said. "The old portrait, which was here when I became President and which I never considered a true likeness of Hoover, recently was removed."

Note—The old portrait of the ex-President was painted when he looked as if he was worrying over the depression which marred the latter days of his administration.

Silver-crested Congressman Barrett O'Hara of Chicago undoubtedly meant well in bringing a Negro boy to serve as page in the House of Representatives, but he could have saved the boy a heartache and his colleagues a lot of headaches if he had appointed a colored page some time ago instead of his own grandson.

The appointment of pages, Capitol policemen, doorkeepers, elevator operators and other employes, of which there are some 400 on Capitol Hill, is made according to political patronage. When there's an opening and it's a Congressman's turn to make an appointment, he can appoint anyone he wishes. The appointee must be competent, but no examination is required as in a Congressman's appointment of youngsters to West Point or Annapolis.

Before he brought James Johnson to Washington from Chicago he telephoned Congressman Tad Walter of Pennsylvania, in charge of House patronage.

"Don't send him," Walter warned. "There is no vacancy. It will only cause confusion and hurt feelings."

Walter has appointed Negroes to every post in the Capitol, the House post office, doorkeeper, elevator operators. He also desegregated the Capitol page boys' school five years ago. Neither the Senate nor the House patronage committee has any idea who the boys are, or the color of their skins. When they are recommended by a Congressman and it's his turn for a vacancy, his recommended appointee gets the job.

There are proxy fights and proxy fights.

At stake—control of the board of the plush Hampshire House, located on the Central Park South "gold coast."

The target of dissenting stockholders—Arnold S. Kirkeby, who has controlled some of the nation's best known hotels.

The Weisl group is seeking to unseat Kirkeby as board chairman and president as well as a director, along with three supporters who make up a majority of the seven directors.

At issue are Kirkeby's management of the hotel since it went cooperative ten years ago and recent renewal for five years of his management contract by a three to two vote of the board.

Tenants who find themselves involved in the proxy fight include:

Movie stars—Greer Garson, in private life, Mrs. Buddy Fogelson, and John Wayne—Barney Balaban, president of Paramount Pictures; Henry F. Fischbach, chairman of Fischbach & Moore, big electrical contracting firm; Arnold M. Grant, New York and West Coast attorney; Benjamin Sherman, chairman, A.B.C. Vending Corp.; Jules Arpels, the jeweler; Mrs. Henry Ittelson, wife of the late head of CIT Financial Corp; Mrs. Helen H. MacKie, member of the Connecticut legislature, and Frances Kneitel, prominent woman attorney.

The proxy letter of the dissenting shareowners charges:

The roof leaks.

Uniforms of service employes are torn and soiled.

Paint and wallpaper peeling.

Settees in public rooms have broken springs.

Back hallways littered.

Then the letter recites:

"Even the table linen bears garish laundry marks reminiscent of a hash house, while the bar, in the best tradition of a Second Avenue saloon, boasts a television set that blares forth blow by blow every prize fight that comes over the air."

Further, the dissenters charge nepotism, saying:

"The list of relatives and nominees that we have been able to identify is long. Sister, brother-in-law, son, mother, all have been taken care of with apartments."

The greatest indignation seems to be "The Case of the Leaking Roof." Here is the proxy letter's recital:

"Last August a major leak developed in our roof and the apartments below were all but rained out. Dinner guests during a rainstorm frequently found themselves dodging in and out among the rain drops as they fell from the ceilings.

"Of course, Mr. Kirkeby was immediately advised of the condition, but weeks and months passed and no move was made to repair the roof. Then a fire broke out and firemen swarmed through the adjacent apartments. Two tenants, finding their apartments uninhabitable that hectic evening, spent the rest of the night in vacant apartments.

"Imagine their amazement when they received bills from the management for a night's occupancy. The situation would have been ludicrous if it were not so serious.

"But neither fire nor storm has moved management to do anything about this disgraceful condition, and today, six months later, the roof is still not repaired."

Many Octogenarians Can Continue Useful Work

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Life expectancy is now approximately 70 years and many men and women who live beyond this age are well preserved and active. This is understandable because a person must be healthy to reach 70. Many of those with heart trouble or afflictions of other vital organs do not make the grade.

The pages of history are filled with illustriou octogenarians who made valuable contributions after they reached their 80th birthday. The majority have been leaders in politics and law. The greatest amount of creative work in music, art, literature, and science has been done at an earlier age but it is surprising how many scientists, writers, artists, and musicians continue to be productive into old age.

S. L. Pressey, professor of psychology at Ohio State University, attempted to determine whether present day octogenarians are active. He obtained the records of 329 persons aged 80 or over who are working for pay. The majority had part time or occasional jobs.

The best known of the group are Churchill, Adenauer, and some of our own congressmen and business leaders. These men are assets to their communities because of their experience and knowledge. It has been my contention for years that our senior citizens should go into politics. They have mellowed through the decades and are willing to serve their country without greed and self-ambition. These men are not easily swayed by outside influences.

This study showed that many physicians, lawyers, skilled artisans, farmers, bankers, clerks, barbers, and handy men are productive past 80. The majority limit their work, such as the 88 year old lawyer who kept only his old clients and stuck to wills and settlements of estates. Elderly columnists specialized in reminiscences and an aged clergyman was rehired by his church for the job of visiting the sick and elderly.

There must be thousands of octogenarians doing useful work. Let me know by letter of any others who might serve as examples to encourage some of our senior citizens who have lost hope and are doing nothing.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A young miss got a job as maid in the home of playwright George Axelrod and couldn't wait to tell her best friend, a cook, about her exciting first week. "You should see the famous people that come to the Axelrods," she exulted. "In five nights, I waited on Marilyn Monroe, Kitty Carlisle, Lauren Bacall, Arlene Francis, and Frank Sinatra!"

"Glory be," marveled the cook. "And what do they talk about?"

"Us," said the maid.

MOOREFIELD — Irvin Bowman, chairman of the Heart fund drive in Hardy County, announces that the drive is underway. Door-to-door solicitation will be made on Heart Sunday as in previous years but in the mean time, anyone wishing to send in his donation may do so.

Dramatic advances have been made in the last ten years in combating the disease. These include new drugs to control high blood pressure, better ways of treating heart attacks, heart-lung machines to take over the heart's work during surgery and operations inside the heart. But there is much yet to be done, Mr. Bowman said.

The slogan is "Help Your Heart Fund Help Your Heart." All are requested to donate to this cause, Mr. Bowman noted.

ACC's Scoring Leaders Unchanged

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — The list of the top five individual basketball scorers in the Atlantic Coast Conference was unchanged by last weekend's flurry of post-examination action.

ACC Service Bureau figures show John Richter of N.C. State in front with an even 18-point average, trailed by York Larese of North Carolina 15.4, Paul Adkins of Virginia 15.3, Howard Hurt of Duke 14.8 and Lou Pucillo of N.C. State 14.5.

Larese tops field goal shooters with 50.3 per cent. George Ritchie of Wake Forest is No. 1 in free throw shooting with 85.3 per cent accuracy and Richter is the top rebounder with 14.6 recoveries a game.

USC Revamps Athletic Setup

Two Recruiters Relieved Of Duty

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The University of Southern California Wednesday announced a sweeping reorganization of its athletic program and relieved two recruiters of their duties.

Nick Pappas, field secretary of the school's alumni association, and Asst. Football Coach Al Davis no longer will recruit athletes. But both will be tendered other positions in the university. Davis may continue as an assistant coach.

The move follows drastic penalties imposed on Southern California in January by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

Dr. Norman H. Topping, NSC president, emphasized that he does not believe USC deserved the punishment. He said:

"This week the Faculty Committee on Ahtletics completed its investigation. Although the committee has some doubts as to our guilt, it is clear that we have either been guilty of minor and technical infractions or that we have permitted practices which might be interpreted as violations of the NCAA code."

The NCAA placed the school on two years' probation for offering improper inducements to two student athletes. This made USC ineligible to enter NCAA championships or invitational events and to participate in NCAA - controlled television programs.

In the new order, the entire responsibility for contacting prospective student athletes will rest in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics.

USC Revamps Athletic Setup

Two Recruiters Relieved Of Duty

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The University of Southern California Wednesday announced a sweeping reorganization of its athletic program and relieved two recruiters of their duties.

Nick Pappas, field secretary of the school's alumni association, and Asst. Football Coach Al Davis no longer will recruit athletes. But both will be tendered other positions in the university. Davis may continue as an assistant coach.

The move follows drastic penalties imposed on Southern California in January by the National Collegiate Athletic Assn.

Dr. Norman H. Topping, NSC president, emphasized that he does not believe USC deserved the punishment. He said:

"This week the Faculty Committee on Ahtletics completed its investigation. Although the committee has some doubts as to our guilt, it is clear that we have either been guilty of minor and technical infractions or that we have permitted practices which might be interpreted as violations of the NCAA code."

The NCAA placed the school on two years' probation for offering improper inducements to two student athletes. This made USC ineligible to enter NCAA championships or invitational events and to participate in NCAA - controlled television programs.

In the new order, the entire responsibility for contacting prospective student athletes will rest in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics.

Tornado Five Scores Ninth PVC Triumph

Taylor Tallies 29 Points For Lions; Pirates Lose 65-49

Keyser High's Golden Tornado quint chalked up its ninth Potomac Valley Conference triumph last night at Keyser by downing the Piedmont High Lions, 70 to 60. The victory was the 10th in 13 starts for Coach John Shelton's crew.

In another Potomac Valley Conference game the Paw Paw High Pirates bowed to Fort Ashby's Eagles, 65-49, after giving the winners a tussle for nearly three periods.

The triumph by the Eagles avenged an earlier 56-50 loss to the Paw Paw five. The win was the 10th this year for Fort Ashby while the Pirates now are 10-6 on the season, floundering somewhat after a successful start which saw them build up a 7-1 record. Paw Paw now has lost five of its last eight games.

In the first clash this year between Keyser and Piedmont, perennial foes who split home-and-home games last season, the Tornado built up a 25-8 first quarter lead and never was in trouble. The winners led by 23 points at 59-36 late in the third stanza for their biggest margin of the game.

Joe Taylor poured in 29 points in a losing cause for the Lions before fouling out in the last quarter while Ralph Wimer had 24 and Bill Boor 17 for Keyser. Smith and Brown also exited on personals for Keyser.

The game was tied at 2, 9, 11, 12, 14, 15, 17, 19, and 22 before Glen Pyles bucketed a fielder to put Fort Ashby ahead to stay in the third period.

TV Grid Slate Hearings End

Telecast Pragram May Be Changed

CHICAGO (AP) — The NCAA's TV Committee Wednesday completed hearings on a 1959 program for college football and indicated the plan may be completed Thursday.

Asa Bushnell, the committee's TV program director, said it was possible the ratio of national and regional telecasts may be changed.

For the past two years, the NCAA program provided for nine national game-of-the-week telecasts and four dates for regional telecasts within the eight NCAA districts.

The 12-member committee may consider 8 national and 5 regional dates or 10 national and 3 regional telecasts, Bushnell said. Previously, the NCAA program allowed a school one national and one regional, or two regional appearances.

Howard Grubbs of the Southwest Conference, elected chairman of the 1959 TV committee, said the NCAA membership must approve the plan in a mail referendum. Approval requires a two-thirds majority of those voting.

Ray Mueller To Replace Vernon At Legion Seminar

Baseball Notables To Appear Monday

Mountain District American Legion Junior Baseball League officials announced last night that Ray Mueller, former New York Giants catcher, will substitute for Mickey Vernon, Boston Red Sox first baseman, at Monday's baseball seminar.

The change was necessitated, Augie Diaz, chairman of the group, said because Vernon will leave early this month for spring training with the American League team. The first sacker also has other commitments which necessitate the move.

The seminar, for all interested baseball personnel in the tri-state area, will be held at the Westernport American Legion home on Monday at 8 p.m.

In addition to Mueller other noted sports celebrities who will speak at the seminar will be Ed Liberatore, chief scout for the Middle Atlantic States for the Cincinnati Redlegs; Joe O'Rourke, area scout for the Kansas City Athletics; and possibly Frank Skaff, former Baltimore Orioles player, coach and manager who now pilots the Durham, N.C. team, and Bucky Walters, one-time hurler, coach and manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Numerous area baseball celebrities also have been invited to participate in the seminar and players, coaches, managers and sponsors of all baseball teams in the tri-state are urged to attend.

The seminar is scheduled to promote baseball interest in the area and is being sponsored by the Mountain District Legion league.

23 Drivers Vie For Championship

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP)—Twenty-three daredevil drivers from seven nations will race down the icy Cresta run Thursday in the one-man skeleton event of the World Sledding Championships.

Skeleton racing is the hot-rodding kid brother of bobsledding. There will be three heats Thursday and three more Friday.

Speeds of more than 80 miles an hour often are achieved on runs of sheer ice. Many skeleton pilots have been killed since the sport was started 70 years ago.

The pilots lie flat on the sled. They use a crash helmet, elbow and knee pads, and rakes on the toes of their shoes for steering and braking. Their noses are only four inches from the ice.

The full course winds 1,346 yards, with a drop of 183 yards, to the village of Cresta.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The trek through California having produced a different winner each week, none of the touring golf pros will be a clear-cut favorite when they start shooting for $17,500 in the Phoenix Open Thursday.

Player Chased By Irate Fans

Cager Seeks Haven In Nearby House

CANOGA PARK, Calif. (AP)—A basketball game turned into a cross-country run for Steve Estes, a bespectacled reserve player for Glendale College.

Glendale was leading Pierce College 90-76 here Tuesday night about the last second of the game and Estes tried for a field goal. Apparently Pierce players and rooters thought he fouled someone. Players and fans swarmed toward him. He was forced through the gym door. His glasses were shattered.

Estes started running, with players and Pierce fans chasing him. He ran to a house and pounded on the door. The householder, startled to see a thinly clad basketball player on his doorstep, didn't want to let him in. Estes pleaded. The crowd was thundering up.

Finally Estes got through the door of the house and slammed it. Then coaches and other cooler heads arrived and Estes was escorted to safety.

Wednesday, Estes, feeling he was cheated out of a shot at the basket, complained:

By STEVE SNIDER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baseball executive Roy Hamey, who twice "led" National League clubs to eighth place and then quit to join the New York Yankees, is convinced those National League years weren't wasted.

"If the Phillies do as well as the Pirates did after I left, I'll be more than satisfied," said Hamey, new assistant to general manager George Weiss of the Yankees.

Hamey first quit the Pirates after an eight-place finish in 1950 and then left the Phillies last fall when the Philadelphia team dropped from fourth to eighth in four years. He offers no excuses and, instead, takes considerable pride in the fact he has been credited with laying some of the groundwork for the current up-and-coming Pirates.

"It was a good feeling to have them knocking on the pennant door last year," said Hamey. "A strong nucleus of that club were youngsters I left behind.

"I hope the Phillies of the future can do as well. I think they can but that's not my department to put anyone on the spot." any longer and I don't want to put anyone on the spot."

At Pittsburgh, Hamey generally is credited as one of three general managers who helped build the Pirates into a strong contender. The others, of course, are Branch Rickey and the incumbent, Joe Brown.

"The three big pitchers were signed while I was there," said Hamey. "And so was Frank Thomas, who contributed so much last season and now has been traded to Cincinnati."

Hamey roped in pitchers Bob Friend, Vernon Law and Ronnie Kline, who still are with the club, along with Thomas and pitcher Bob Purkey who since have departed. He also signed Bob Skinner, a current star, and Danny Kravitz, a part-timer.

"We got Friend (22-14 last year) for a $10,000 bonus off the Purdue campus," Roy recalled. "Law got something like $6,000, I think, as a kid out in Idaho. Kline didn't get much but he'll be a big winner yet."

Brown did some shuffling that added Bill Virdon, Ted Kluszewski, Gene Baker, Hank Foiles, Harvey Haddix, Smokey Burgess and Don Hoak, among others.

Tornado Five Scores Ninth PVC Triumph

Keyser High's Golden Tornado quint chalked up its ninth Potomac Valley Conference triumph last night at Keyser by downing the Piedmont High Lions, 70 to 60. The victory was the 10th in 13 starts for Coach John Shelton's crew.

In another Potomac Valley Conference game the Paw Paw High Pirates bowed to Fort Ashby's Eagles, 65-49, after giving the winners a tussle for nearly three periods.

The triumph by the Eagles avenged an earlier 56-50 loss to the Paw Paw five. The win was the 10th this year for Fort Ashby while the Pirates now are 10-6 on the season, floundering somewhat after a successful start which saw them build up a 7-1 record. Paw Paw now has lost five of its last eight games.

In the first clash this year between Keyser and Piedmont, perennial foes who split home-and-home games last season, the Tornado built up a 25-8 first quarter lead and never was in trouble. The winners led by 23 points at 59-36 late in the third stanza for their biggest margin of the game.

Joe Taylor poured in 29 points in a losing cause for the Lions before fouling out in the last quarter while Ralph Wimer had 24 and Bill Boor 17 for Keyser. Smith and Brown also exited on personals for Keyser.

The game was tied at 2, 9, 11, 12, 14, 15, 17, 19, and 22 before Glen Pyles bucketed a fielder to put Fort Ashby ahead to stay in the third period.

TV Grid Slate Hearings End

Telecast Pragram May Be Changed

CHICAGO (AP) — The NCAA's TV Committee Wednesday completed hearings on a 1959 program for college football and indicated the plan may be completed Thursday.

Asa Bushnell, the committee's TV program director, said it was possible the ratio of national and regional telecasts may be changed.

For the past two years, the NCAA program provided for nine national game-of-the-week telecasts and four dates for regional telecasts within the eight NCAA districts.

The 12-member committee may consider 8 national and 5 regional dates or 10 national and 3 regional telecasts, Bushnell said. Previously, the NCAA program allowed a school one national and one regional, or two regional appearances.

Howard Grubbs of the Southwest Conference, elected chairman of the 1959 TV committee, said the NCAA membership must approve the plan in a mail referendum. Approval requires a two-thirds majority of those voting.

Ray Mueller To Replace Vernon At Legion Seminar

Baseball Notables To Appear Monday

Mountain District American Legion Junior Baseball League officials announced last night that Ray Mueller, former New York Giants catcher, will substitute for Mickey Vernon, Boston Red Sox first baseman, at Monday's baseball seminar.

The change was necessitated, Augie Diaz, chairman of the group, said because Vernon will leave early this month for spring training with the American League team. The first sacker also has other commitments which necessitate the move.

The seminar, for all interested baseball personnel in the tri-state area, will be held at the Westernport American Legion home on Monday at 8 p.m.

In addition to Mueller other noted sports celebrities who will speak at the seminar will be Ed Liberatore, chief scout for the Middle Atlantic States for the Cincinnati Redlegs; Joe O'Rourke, area scout for the Kansas City Athletics; and possibly Frank Skaff, former Baltimore Orioles player, coach and manager who now pilots the Durham, N.C. team, and Bucky Walters, one-time hurler, coach and manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Numerous area baseball celebrities also have been invited to participate in the seminar and players, coaches, managers and sponsors of all baseball teams in the tri-state are urged to attend.

The seminar is scheduled to promote baseball interest in the area and is being sponsored by the Mountain District Legion league.

23 Drivers Vie For Championship

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland (AP) —Twenty-three daredevil drivers from seven nations will race down the icy Cresta run Thursday in the one-man skeleton event of the World Sledding Championships.

Skeleton racing is the hot-rodding kid brother of bobsledding. There will be three heats Thursday and three more Friday.

Speeds of more than 80 miles an hour often are achieved on runs of sheer ice. Many skeleton pilots have been killed since the sport was started 70 years ago.

The pilots lie flat on the sled. They use a crash helmet, elbow and knee pads, and rakes on the toes of their shoes for steering and braking. Their noses are only four inches from the ice.

Maccabees Cop 12th Win Over Centre Street

Edge Losers 36-34; Presbyterians Win

The division-leading Maccabees scored their 12th victory of the Sunday School Basketball League campaign last night, but were given a scare before edging Centre Street Methodist, 36-34, in the first of three American Division games at the YMCA.

In other loop engagements last night on the YMCA court Potomac Park handed the South Cumberland Salvation Army quint its 13th consecutive loss, 50-18 while First Presbyterian scored a mild upset triumph over Kingsley Methodist, 35-32.

Centre Street battled the favored Maccabees to an 18-18 deadlock at halftime and trailed by only four points at 30-26 at the close of the third quarter.

First Presbyterian knocked Kingsley Methodist out of seventh place in the division with a three-point victory which also was gained at the foul line. The victors converted 15 of 23 fouls to Kingsley's 4-10 after being outscored from the field, 14-10.

High man was White of Kingsley with 15 points. Tosh garnered 10 for First Presbyterian.

Phoenix Open Begins Today

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The trek through California having produced a different winner each week, none of the touring golf pros will be a clear-cut favorite when they start shooting for $17,500 in the Phoenix Open Thursday.

Cager Seeks Haven In Nearby House

CANOGA PARK, Calif. (AP)—A basketball game turned into a cross-country run for Steve Estes, a bespectacled reserve player for Glendale College.

Glendale was leading Pierce College 90-76 here Tuesday night about the last second of the game and Estes tried for a field goal. Apparently Pierce players and rooters thought he fouled someone. Players and fans swarmed toward him. He was forced through the gym door. His glasses were shattered.

Estes started running, with players and Pierce fans chasing him. He ran to a house and pounded on the door. The householder, startled to see a thinly clad basketball player on his doorstep, didn't want to let him in. Estes pleaded. The crowd was thundering up.

Finally Estes got through the door of the house and slammed it. Then coaches and other cooler heads arrived and Estes was escorted to safety.

Wednesday, Estes, feeling he was cheated out of a shot at the basket, complained:

"I've still got two free throws coming."

NEW YORK (UPI) — Baseball executive Roy Hamey, who twice "led" National League clubs to eighth place and then quit to join the New York Yankees, is convinced those National League years weren't wasted.

"If the Phillies do as well as the Pirates did after I left, I'll be more than satisfied," said Hamey, new assistant to general manager George Weiss of the Yankees.

Hamey first quit the Pirates after an eight-place finish in 1950 and then left the Phillies last fall when the Philadelphia team dropped from fourth to eighth in four years. He offers no excuses and, instead, takes considerable pride in the fact he has been credited with laying some of the groundwork for the current up-and-coming Pirates.

"It was a good feeling to have them knocking on the pennant door last year," said Hamey. "A strong nucleus of that club were youngsters I left behind.

"I hope the Phillies of the future can do as well. I think they can but that's not my department to put anyone on the spot."
any longer and I don't want to put anyone on the spot."

At Pittsburgh, Hamey generally is credited as one of three general managers who helped build the Pirates into a strong contender. The others, of course, are Branch Rickey and the incumbent, Joe Brown.

"The three big pitchers were signed while I was there," said Hamey. "And so was Frank Thomas, who contributed so much last season and now has been traded to Cincinnati."

Hamey roped in pitchers Bob Friend, Vernon Law and Ronnie Kline, who still are with the club, along with Thomas and pitcher Bob Purkey who since have departed. He also signed Bob Skinner, a current star, and Danny Kravitz, a part-timer.

"We got Friend (22-14 last year) for a $10,000 bonus off the Purdue campus," Roy recalled. "Law got something like $6,000, I think, as a kid out in Idaho. Kline didn't get much but he'll be a big winner yet."

Brown did some shuffling that added Bill Virdon, Ted Kluszewski, Gene Baker, Hank Foiles, Harvey Haddix, Smokey Burgess and Don Hoak, among others.

As for the Phillies, Hamey's regime acquired youngsters like Harry Anderson, Bob Bowman, Ed Bouchee, pitchers Dick Farrell, Jack Meyer, Don Cardwell, Roman Semproch and the departed Jack Sanford.

"The jury is still out," said Hamey. "All I can do is hope they'll do as well as the Pirates."

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Three Easy Ways To Be Charming

So many opportunities to be charming are missed. You say nothing and do nothing when you could be pleasant. You stay in the background when you have a chance to shine. Shyness doesn't always explain it — more often there is no good reason. You simply haven't the habit of expressing yourself or rising to an occasion.

The charming person does express herself. She speaks up graciously at the right time, acts on good impulses. Your own ability to do exactly what a recognized charmer does may be as great as hers, and all you need is to cultivate the habit of displaying that charm of yours. For a start, make an effort to let your charm show at every opportunity in these three easy ways:

1. Say so when you think something nice about someone. There's music to any ears in praise and appreciation. Don't hesitate because you're afraid your words will sound too forward, as long as they're not personal. The risk is well worth taking, and especially since you're known to be no idle flatterer, compliments will mean something coming from you. Say the nice things about others as well as to them.

2. Jump at the chance to take social responsibilities. Be one of the hostesses at a group function, take it upon yourself to talk to and introduce those who aren't well acquainted anywhere. You can be helpful, entertain more often in simple ways. Be a willing worker for good causes both to do good works and to increase your circle of friends.

3. Never miss a chance to express thanks, nor to offer congratulations or sympathy. Make every thank-you a ready one whether it is expected or not. And write it, promptly, when it's a thank-you to a hostess or for a gift or a favor. Put congratulations and condolences on paper. Be meticulous about showing your special and sincere interest when the occasion calls for it, but also show thoughtfulness sometimes when there is no occasion, just because you are a warm and thoughtful person.

If you've read this far, undoubtedly you want to be charming. I have a handy card which lists the small things that go together to produce genuine charm in a woman. You may have one, simply for the asking, if you write Secrets of Charm, in care of this paper, and enclose a stamped return envelope.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♥	Pass	2 ♦
Pass	2 NT.	Pass	3 NT.
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♠.

In countless situations the correct bid is a matter of choice. In some cases the player is faced with an out and out guess. In others, the type of strategy should be dictated by the character of the partner. One course may seem appropriate with an optimistic partner, whereas a different choice might be made with one who is known to hold the middle of the road.

South's rebid today after his partner's two diamond take-out is the one in question. When I saw the hand played in a recent tournament, one South actually chose to raise partner to three diamonds, and while technically such action cannot be labeled wrong, strategically it must be looked upon as an error. After the raise North chose to try for game in the minor, whereupon East led the queen of clubs and the result was a one trick set.

The recommended rebid by South is two no trump which North, of course, will be happy to raise to three, a contract which no lead by West can defeat. Actually West will lead the five of spades, and declarer should not yield to the temptation of finessing. With 10 tricks in sight and the king of clubs open to attack, should East obtain the lead, grabbing tactics are indicated.

The importance of protecting the strength of your hand from an opening attack is not to be overlooked. Possession of a guarded king should induce a player to try to become declarer. With this thought in mind the better strategic opening by South would have been one no trump. North's proper response is three no trump. Once again the direct method proves superior, and South is charged with a demerit for opening with one heart.

Never hold back on your good impulses toward others.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Three Easy Ways To Be Charming

So many opportunities to be charming are missed. You say nothing and do nothing when you could be pleasant. You stay in the background when you have a chance to shine. Shyness doesn't always explain it — more often there is no good reason. You simply haven't the habit of expressing yourself or rising to an occasion.

The charming person does express herself. She speaks up graciously at the right time, acts on good impulses. Your own ability to do exactly what a recognized charmer does may be as great as hers, and all you need is to cultivate the habit of displaying that charm of yours. For a start, make an effort to let your charm show at every opportunity in these three easy ways:

1. Say so when you think something nice about someone. There's music to any ears in praise and appreciation. Don't hesitate because you're afraid your words will sound too forward, as long as they're not personal. The risk is well worth taking, and especially since you're known to be no idle flatterer, compliments will mean something coming from you. Say the nice things about others as well as to them.

2. Jump at the chance to take social responsibilities. Be one of the hostesses at a group function, take it upon yourself to talk to and introduce those who aren't well acquainted anywhere. You can be helpful, entertain more often in simple ways. Be a willing worker for good causes both to do good works and to increase your circle of friends.

3. Never miss a chance to express thanks, nor to offer congratulations or sympathy. Make every thank-you a ready one whether it is expected or not. And write it, promptly, when it's a thank-you to a hostess or for a gift or a favor. Put congratulations and condolences on paper. Be meticulous about showing your special and sincere interest when the occasion calls for it, but also show thoughtfulness sometimes when there is no occasion, just because you are a warm and thoughtful person.

If you've read this far, undoubtedly you want to be charming. I have a handy card which lists the small things that go together to produce genuine charm in a woman. You may have one, simply for the asking, if you write Secrets of Charm, in care of this paper, and enclose a stamped return envelope.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
Pass	1♥	Pass	2♦
Pass	2 NT.	Pass	3 NT.
Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Five of ♠.

In countless situations the correct bid is a matter of choice. In some cases the player is faced with an out and out guess. In others, the type of strategy should be dictated by the character of the partner. One course may seem appropriate with an optimistic partner, whereas a different choice might be made with one who is known to hold the middle of the road.

South's rebid today after his partner's two diamond take-out is the one in question. When I saw the hand played in a recent tournament, one South actually chose to raise partner to three diamonds, and while technically such action cannot be labeled wrong, strategically it must be looked upon as an error. After the raise North chose to try for game in the minor, whereupon East led the queen of clubs and the result was a one trick set.

The recommended rebid by South is two no trump which North, of course, will be happy to raise to three, a contract which no lead by West can defeat. Actually West will lead the five of spades, and declarer should not yield to the temptation of finessing. With 10 tricks in sight and the king of clubs open to attack, should East obtain the lead, grabbing tactics are indicated.

The importance of protecting the strength of your hand from an opening attack is not to be overlooked. Possession of a guarded king should induce a player to try to become declarer. With this thought in mind the better strategic opening by South would have been one no trump. North's proper response is three no trump. Once again the direct method proves superior, and South is charged with a demerit for opening with one heart.

W.Va. Legislature Weighs Income Tax Proposals

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A payroll-type income tax and a 10 per cent hike in the gross sales tax on business were reported Wdenesday to be under consideration by the Legislature's Democratic steering committee as a means of raising some $4,000,000 in new revenue.

It was learned that the two measures were proposed as a means of compromising remaining House - Senate differences over taxation. The 20 - member steering committee reached general agreement Tuesday on measures to raise some $14,000,000 of their goal of $18,000,000 for roads, schools and other services.

House Democrats were reported to have discussed the proposals at a one hour-50 minute caucus following Wednesday's floor session.

At its conclusion, Speaker Harry R. Pauley said the meeting was "the prelude to a binding caucus to be held the first of next week."

Senate Democrats also caucused to discuss the new steering committee proposals, but it was reported they decided against taking any action pending a decision by House members.

Each chamber passed only a single bill during relatively brief floor sessions, but the House turned back an attempt to kill a small claims court bill which opposition groups termed an attempt to weaken the state's present minor judiciary system.

To Hear Field

Senate President Ralph J. Bean also announced that the Senate will meet as a committee of the whole Monday or Tuesday to hear a report by State Tax Commissioner John A. Field on progress of the statewide property revaluation program, plus recommendations he may have in regard to it.

The Senate set 11:30 a. m. for its Thursday meeting to allow for early departure of a committee which plans to go to Marshall County to investigate State Road Commission right-of-way procedures.

Bean said Senate Democrats discussed at their caucus a 1 per cent tax on individual incomes, to be levied only on amounts over $5,000 a year. He would not say whether that was the rate recommended by the steering committee.

In regard to the gross sales tax hike, it was learned that the committee recommended that certain exceptions be made to help small business men — "the corner grocery type."

The income tax on individuals would be separate from an extension of the gross sales tax to professional persons, at a rate of $1 per $100 of income, previously agreed to by the steering committee.

The 55-minute House session was highlighted by an unsuccessful attempt to kill a bill to establish a so-called small claims court in Kanawha County — opposed by justice of the peace spokesmen who term it an attempt to undermine the JP system.

The bill, backed solidly by the Kanawha County delegation, was scheduled for only a routine first reading, but Del. Hobart Booth (D-Fayette) offered a motion to postpone consideration indefinitely—which would have the effect of killing it.

Booth argued that the measure, already approved by the Senate, was a "back door method to eliminate JP's in the entire state."

Called Strictly Local

Del. W. T. Brotherton (D - Kanawha) said it was strictly a local bill and was favored by a majority of Kanawha Countians. He told Booth the Kanawha County delegation has never in past years opposed local legislation for other counties.

The bill would set up a court to handle civil suits under $1,000, with a lawyer-judge to be paid $10,000 a year. Litigants could choose between it and JP courts. Booth's motion was defeated 56-40.

Delegates also approved the only bill at passage stage, to transfer excess bridge toll collections —those remaining after all revenue bonds are retired — to the state secondary road fund. It now goes to the Senate.

Advanced to a final vote Thursday was a bill to prohibit establishment of commercial facilities on controlled access highways. Moved up to second reading —the amendment state — Thursday along with the small claims court bill were two measures relating to constitutional amendments approved last Nov. 4.

One would apply the property tax exemption on bank deposits to savings in building and loan association, the other provides for issuance of non-voting corporate stock.

Approved by the Senate during a brief floor session was a House-passed bill creating a new judicial circuit, the 28th, the Nicholas County, now included in the 12th Circuit with Fayette.

Senators defeated, on a voice vote, a motion by Sen. Arch W. Riley (D-Ohio) to reassign from the Redistricting to the Judiciary Committee a bill creating a separate judicial circuit for Hancock County.

Riley argued that the bill, previously approved by the House, was concerned primarily with the judicial setup and should be studied by the larger Judiciary Committee.

His motion lost after Judiciary Chairman Clarence E. Martin, who is also majority floor leader, said there was no reason for his committee to consider the bill.

Manslaughter Case Hearing Slated

A hearing will be given Harry B. Kyle, 24, of near Lonaconing, on Saturday at 9:15 a. m. before Magistrate Morris Baron on a charge of manslaughter by automobile.

Kyle is accused of being the driver of the car which crashed January 16 on State Route 36 near Barton and fatally injuring Richard B. Wilson of Barton. Kyle was badly injured himself in the accident and only recently was discharged from Potomac Valley Hospital at Keyser.

Kyle will be represented by Milton Gerson, local attorney.

Fire Damages House At Barton

By BILL BARRETT
United Press International

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A payroll-type income tax and a 10 per cent hike in the gross sales tax on business were reported Wdenesday to be under consideration by the Legislature's Democratic steering committee as a means of raising some $4,000,000 in new revenue.

It was learned that the two measures were proposed as a means of compromising remaining House - Senate differences over taxation. The 20 - member steering committee reached general agreement Tuesday on measures to raise some $14,000,000 of their goal of $18,000,000 for roads, schools and other services.

House Democrats were reported to have discussed the proposals at a one hour-50 minute caucus following Wednesday's floor session.

At its conclusion, Speaker Harry R. Pauley said the meeting was "the prelude to a binding caucus to be held the first of next week."

A binding caucus would obligate party members to support bills favored by a majority of the Democrats' 85 House members.

Senate Democrats also caucused to discuss the new steering committee proposals, but it was reported they decided against taking any action pending a decision by House members.

Each chamber passed only a single bill during relatively brief floor sessions, but the House turned back an attempt to kill a small claims court bill which opposition groups termed an attempt to weaken the state's present minor judiciary system.

To Hear Field

Senate President Ralph J. Bean also announced that the Senate will meet as a committee of the whole Monday or Tuesday to hear a report by State Tax Commissioner John A. Field on progress of the statewide property revaluation program, plus recommendations he may have in regard to it.

The Senate set 11:30 a. m. for its Thursday meeting to allow for early departure of a committee which plans to go to Marshall County to investigate State Road Commission right-of-way proceedures.

Bean said Senate Democrats discussed at their caucus a 1 per cent tax on individual incomes, to be levied only on amounts over $5,000 a year. He would not say whether that was the rate recommended by the steering committee.

In regard to the gross sales tax hike, it was learned that the committee recommended that certain exceptions be made to help small business men — "the corner grocery type."

The income tax on individuals would be separate from an extension of the gross sales tax to professional persons, at a rate of $1 per $100 of income, previously agreed to by the steering committee.

The 55-minute House session was highlighted by an unsuccessful attempt to kill a bill to establish a so-called small claims court in Kanawha County — opposed by justice of the peace spokesmen who term it an attempt to undermine the JP system.

The bill, backed solidly by the Kanawha County delegation, was scheduled for only a routine first reading, but Del. Hobart Booth (D-Fayette) offered a motion to postpone consideration indefinitely—which would have the effect of killing it.

Booth argued that the measure, already approved by the Senate, was a "back door method to eliminate JP's in the entire state."

Called Strictly Local

Del. W. T. Brotherton (D - Kanawha) said it was strictly a local bill and was favored by a majority of Kanawha Countians. He told Booth the Kanawha County delegation has never in past years opposed local legislation for other counties.

The bill would set up a court to handle civil suits under $1,000, with a lawyer-judge to be paid $10,000 a year. Litigants could choose between it and JP courts, Booth's motion was defeated 56-40.

Delegates also approved the only bill at passage stage, to transfer excess bridge toll collections —those remaining after all revenue bonds are retired — to the state secondary road fund. It now goes to the Senate.

Advanced to a final vote Thursday was a bill to prohibit establishment of commercial facilities on controlled access highways. Moved up to second reading —the amendment state — Thursday along with the small claims court bill were two measures relating to constitutional amendments approved last Nov. 4.

One would apply the property tax exemption on bank deposits to savings in building and loan association, the other provides for issuance of non-voting corporate stock.

Approved by the Senate during a brief floor session was a House-passed bill creating a new judicial circuit, the 28th, the Nicholas County, now included in the 12th Circuit with Fayette.

The bill, only one up for a final vote in the Senate, was approved 26-5 and sent to the governor for his signature.

Senators defeated, on a voice vote, a motion by Sen. Arch W. Riley (D-Ohio) to reassign from the Redistricting to the Judiciary Committee a bill creating a separate judicial circuit for Hancock County.

Riley argued that the bill, previously approved by the House, was concerned primarily with the judicial setup and should be studied by the larger Judiciary Committee.

His motion lost after Judiciary Chairman Clarence E. Martin, who is also majority floor leader, said there was no reason for his committee to consider the bill.

Market Declines Under Light Selling Pressure

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices gave ground Wednesday under the weight of some unfavorable news—chiefly a Justice Department announcement that it is considering action against "undue concentration" in the steel and automobile business.

Attention centered chiefly in the so-called specials such as Lukens Steel which ran up over 9 points Tuesday on rumors of merger and stock split plans. Denial of both these by the company sent the stock down nearly 5 points Wednesday. Universal Cyclops Steel which had been linked with Lukens in the merger talk, backed off more than 2 points.

Other steels were mixed, with Youngstown off over 1, U.S. Steel nearly 1 but with National nearly a point higher.

American Motors lost 1½ points as President George Romney said his company will require large amounts of capital and indicated no dividend policy. Others in the group were fractionally lower.

Oils were widely irregular with Amerada up over 4, Richfield nearly 3 while Texas Co. and Gulf fell around 2 each. Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Spots of strength in wheat and rye, and general steadiness for other grains, marked Wednesday's close on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ⅞ to off ¾ cent; corn (old) off ¼ cents; (new) unchanged to off ¼; oats off ⅛ to ⅜ cent; rye up ⅜ to ⅞ cent; soybeans up ¾ to off ⅝ cent.

It was a day of quiet, rather featureless trade. Most contracts held within narrow price limits throughout the session.

Good commission house demand was the firming factor in wheat. Mills were on the selling side, but were expected soon to buy heavily in red wheat. In export circles, Yugoslavia and Japan made some purchases, all for late February shipment. No sales were transacted in spot trade.

Gradual easiness weakened oats. Elevator-shippers did some selling in the May position. Cash houses did little buying.

More strength was evident in rye. Lack of selling pressure and scattered purchases of March and May deliveries gave the market its support.

Lower meal and oil prices induced easiness in soybeans. Positions rallied before the close and reached steady ranges, however, as support came from processors and Northwest house brokers. The demand centered in the March contract.

Grains at outside markets were steady. The range:

Market Declines Under Light Selling Pressure

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stock prices gave ground Wednesday under the weight of some unfavorable news—chiefly a Justice Department announcement that it is considering action against "undue concentration" in the steel and automobile business.

With nothing concrete to support the market, this news touched off modest selling in most groups.

The selling came on the lightest volume since Dec. 24—3,170,000 shares against Tuesday's 3,220,000.

Attention centered chiefly in the so-called specials such as Lukens Steel which ran up over 9 points Tuesday on rumors of merger and stock split plans. Denial of both these by the company sent the stock down nearly 5 points Wednesday. Universal Cyclops Steel which had been linked with Lukens in the merger talk, backed off more than 2 points.

Other steels were mixed, with Youngstown off over 1, U.S. Steel nearly 1 but with National nearly a point higher.

American Motors lost 1½ points as President George Romney said his company will require large amounts of capital and indicated no dividend policy. Others in the group were fractionally lower.

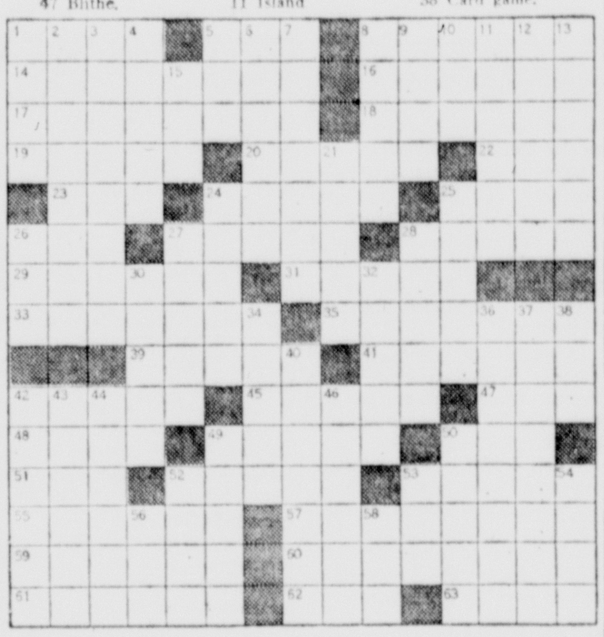

Oils were widely irregular with Amerada up over 4, Richfield nearly 3 while Texas Co. and Gulf fell around 2 each. Losses in chemicals ran close to 3 points in Eastman Kodak, around a point in Du Pont, Allied and Union Carbide. Vick gained nearly 2 in the drugs but Warner Lambert lost around a point.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Spots of strength in wheat and rye, and general steadiness for other grains, marked Wednesday's close on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Wheat closed up ⅞ to off ¼ cent; corn (old) off ⅛ cents; (new) unchanged to off ¼; oats off ¼ to ⅝ cent; rye up ⅝ to ⅞ cent; soybeans up ¾ to off ⅝ cent.

It was a day of quiet, rather featureless trade. Most contracts held within narrow price limits throughout the session.

Good commission house demand was the firming factor in wheat. Mills were on the selling side, but were expected soon to buy heavily in red wheat. In export circles, Yugoslavia and Japan made some purchases, all for late February shipment. No sales were transacted in spot trade.

Gradual easiness weakened oats. Elevator-shippers did some selling in the May position. Cash houses did little buying.

More strength was evident in rye. Lack of selling pressure and scattered purchases of March and May deliveries gave the market its support.

Lower meal and oil prices induced easiness in soybeans. Positions rallied before the close and reached steady ranges, however, as support came from processors and Northwest house brokers. The demand centered in the March contract.

Grains at outside markets were steady. The range:

Mayor Urges League Action On Legislation

Requests Meeting Of Group

Mayor J. Edwin Keech has just written to Edmund C. Mester, executive secretary of the Maryland Municipal League, suggesting some six recommendations which he feels the league's legislative committee should be making to the General Assembly during the current session.

Mayor Keech suggests that the legislative committee meet at College Park sometime during the week of February 9.

More Gas Money

The mayor's suggestions concern re-allocation of gasoline tax money, authorizing all counties of Maryland to impose a cigaret tax similar to Baltimore County's, a study of the allocation of income tax money, change in the distribution of the capital stock tax on banks, distribution of fines for state law violations, and amendment to the home rule law.

Cumberland's chief executive believes that the re-allocation of gasoline tax money should be made so that the municipalities would receive a greater share than the counties. He believes that the authority for all counties to tax cigarets should be permitted to offset money lost by the counties in the distribution of the gasoline tax money.

Next among Mr. Keech's recommendation was a study of the allocation of the income tax money so that the place of business rather than residence would be controlling. At the present time many business men having their establishments within the city limits reside outside the city. When they file their tax returns they give their residence address, which means that the county rather than the city benefits, even though the municipality should receive credit.

Bank Stock Tax

Mayor Keech goes on to contend that the distribution of the capital stock tax on banks is "certainly very unfair" on the grounds that the municipality where the bank is located should receive the major percentage of the tax rather than the county.

He then pointed out that fines involving violations of state laws, although made by city officers, are divided between the county and the state. He feels that the city should receive the major portion of the fine when the arrest is made by a city-paid officer.

Finally, Mayor Keech suggests that it may be advisable to amend the home rule law so that municipalities would be given the right to adopt any form of taxation desired.

JACKIE FISHER

Guest Pianists Will Play At Symphony Concert

The Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra will present Jackie Fisher and Leonard Withers as guest artists on the orchestra's winter concert Tuesday, February 10, at 8:15 p. m. in the Allegany High School auditorium. Wilton Sykes is conductor of the symphony.

Fisher is the 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dodd Fisher of Mt. Storm and is a senior at Bayard High School, where he has been on the honor roll for the entire four years. This talented young man started his piano studies with his mother at the age of four and has continued with Mr. Withers at Potomac State College in Keyser since the age of six.

Before he had reached the age of eight, he often played the preludes and offertories at Mt. Storm Methodist Church, and since then he has been the regular pianist and organist, sometimes playing his own compositions as preludes or offertories.

Not only is Jackie interested in the piano, but he enjoys singing as well as playing the organ and trombone. During the past several years he has appeared as soloist in many communities in the tri-state area as well as in Washington, D. C. This will be the first appearance of the two-piano team in Cumberland. Next year Jackie plans to enter college to major in either music or mathematics.

Mr. Withers, who plays the second piano parts in the duo, has been a professor of music at Potomac State College for many years and has often appeared in two-piano recitals with his students.

He received his master of music degree at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and continued his studies at the School for Americans at Fontainebleu, France, and at the Ecole Normale de Musique de Paris.

New Highway Will Be Built In Westernport

Work Slated To Start Sometime This Year

The construction of a new highway in Westernport, which will tie in with Maryland Route 36, is scheduled to begin sometime this year, a spokesman for the State Roads Commission said last night.

Yesterday a preliminary investigation of the proposed highway, which will be about a mile and a half in length, was held by personnel of the SRC and a consulting engineer firm.

Within about two months SRC officials hope to have a report on the estimated cost of the project being built to alleviate the traffic problem of Westernport.

Some Changes Made

A few changes in original plans were made yesterday during the investigation. The highway is to be constructed from Church Street in the vicinity of the Boal Funeral Home and will extend along the rear of Main Street to a point near the Baptist Church on Philos Avenue.

The highway will then extend across Georges Creek, cross Waverly Terrace and continue up through Brophytown and back across the creek north of the existing bridge in that community. The highway will tie in with Route 36 near a sweeping curve beyond Franklin.

Main Street To Be One-Way

Main Street in Westernport is scheduled to become one-way with the construction of the new highway. A number of homes and a couple of business places will have to be razed in order that the highway may be constructed.

Attending yesterday's investigation were two representatives of the Office of Special Service of the SRC, two representatives of Maddix and Hopkins, consulting engineer firm of Silver Spring; Robert Murray of the right of way department of SRC District 6; George E. Geary, construction engineer of the district; Mayor Ray L. Wilt of Westernport and Commissioner L. C. Lambert, and Commissioner Leo Herbert.

Some time ago the town of Westernport requested that such a highway be built in that community and the project got the backing of State Senator Charles M. See.

Towler Heads US Route 40 Association

Jack L. Towler, proprietor of Allegany Inn Hotel, was elected president of the Route 40 Association, Inc., at a meeting held in the Baltimore Pike fire hall.

Named to serve with him are Edward Habeeb, local florist, first vice president; Carl Dulaney of Uniontown, second vice president; James Garland, secretary, and Robbin Wolford, treasurer.

The board of directors elected includes Carl Warner, Eddie Wolfe, William Keight, Eldon Shipway, Joseph Lyons, Robert Altstetter, and Clifford Crow of Frostburg.

The association took formal action on a resolution endorsing and urging the passage of House Bill 89, introduced by Delegate William Walsh. This bill will provide development along Route 40 from Hancock, westward to the Pennsylvania line, to attract tourist trade. The association has long advocated this and other ideas to enhance the convenience, comfort and scenic beauty of travel over Route 40, Mr. Towler observed.

The new president said a membership drive is to be launched.

Bill To Close Md. Publicity Dept. Delayed For Hearing

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Representatives of Maryland's tourist industry sought Wednesday to slow down a bill which would abolish the Department of Information and incorporate its functions in a new economic development agency.

The administration - backed bill, introduced last Friday, was approved by the Ways and Means Committee Wednesday morning and was to have reached the floor of the House in the afternoon.

However, Chairman Boone (D-Balto County) agreed to hold it up for one more day to give tourist interests a chance to be heard. He set the hearing for 11 a. m. Thursday.

Protest Group Forms

Twenty-four persons from various hotels, motels and other travel businesses arrived at the Statehouse to protest the fast movement of the legislation and request a hearing. A number of them were directors of the Maryland Travel Council.

They expressed fear it would cost Earle R. Poorbaugh, director of the Department of Information, his job and that the department's present functions of promoting tourist travel would not be carried out by the new agency.

Del. Loveless (D - Prince Georges), who drafted and sponsored the bill at Gov. Tawes' request, told them there was no intention of cutting back on tourist promotion and that they would even find it expanded under the new set-up.

In replies to questions about whether Poorbaugh would be in the new department, he said that was a matter between Poorbaugh and Gov. Tawes.

F. M. Irving of College Park, president of the Maryland Motor Court Assn. told Nichols the group was also concerned about what would happen to the department's $62,000 budget when it became absorbed in the new agency.

$150,000 Budget

The economic development commission would have an initial budget of $150,000, Loveless said, to use toward promoting industrial expansion in Maryland and recreational activities including travel.

The bill's only direct reference to the Department of Information calls for abolishing that agency.

Among those conferring with Loveless Wednesday were Jack Lee of the Francis Scott Key Hotel in Frederick, a director of the Maryland Travel Council; Lloyd C. Strickland of Elkridge, chairman of the Highway and Legislative Committee of the Maryland Motor Court Assn.; J. H. Morgan of Annapolis, member of the Legislative Committee of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Assn.; and four members of the Route 40 Assn.—Irvin Hawkins of Baltimore County, Mrs. M. F. Whitlock of Elkton, T. Hampton of Baltimore County and Tom McNutt of North East, Md.

Fire Ruins Area House

The home of Belmont Athey, Uhl Highway, was damaged extensively by fire last night, but the flames were brought under control by firemen of two volunteer companies.

Firemen of North Branch received an initial call about 8:45 p. m. They called upon volunteers of Bedford Road for assistance in quenching the blaze, which was confined to the basement and first floor of the two-story residence.

It is believed that the fire originated in the basement of the residence, which is heated by a coal furnace. The flames spread through the kitchen of the home into the dining room and living room.

Firemen used water from the booster tanks. Volunteers from Bedford Road returned to the fire hall about 10:45 p. m., although firemen from North Branch were still on the scene about 11 p. m.

State Personnel Chief Proposes Hiring Change

Veterans' Preference Rule Under Attack

By MARTY SUTPHIN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Maryland's personnel chief Wednesday recommended two controversial changes in the rules for hiring and promoting state employes.

One would eliminate the "absolute preference" given veterans. The other would scrap the provision that promotions must go to one of the five highest scorers on an eligibility test.

Commissioner Russell S. Davis admitted that prospects for enactment of the first change is slim. But he indicated he expects the other proposal to be introduced soon in the General Assembly with solid support.

He outlined his proposals at a budget hearing before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Davis said the move to change the veterans preference is not a popular one. "But somebody sometime has got to take a stand in support of it. Absolute preference has no place in a merit system, and I feel it is my responsibility to recommend it be eliminated."

Sponsor Is Veteran

Under current Maryland law, veterans get a five-point boost toward passing the test given prospective state employes. Once they have passed, they move to the top of the hiring list.

Davis, himself a veteran, said he would favor giving veterans additional points once they had passed the test on their own but would eliminate the five-point-head-start and absolute preference.

He said Maryland is the only state which treats veterans so well and "it is time we got in step with other states and the federal regulations."

Current regulations require department heads to pick men to be promoted from the top five scorers on the eligibility test. Davis thinks they should be able to give the promotion to anyone who passed the test.

He said the current system often holds back men with excellent records on the job. "It certainly does not make it possible for you always to select the best man," he said.

Convince The Veterans?

The personnel commissioner said all officials in his department "are completely sold" on both proposals. "I think we could even convince veterans organizations" the changes are desirable, he said.

To emphasize his objections to absolute preference for veterans, Davis claimed no non-veteran has been able to get on the State Police force since the Korean War.

On another matter, the personnel director suggested that any future salary increases voted state employes should be handed out as increments in specific job categories rather than as across-the-board raises.

Among bills passed by the Senate and sent to the House Wednesday was one to let prisoners out of the Harford County Jail during working hours. The idea behind the bill, introduced by Sen. James (D-Harford), is to prevent families of prisoners from becoming welfare problems.

PPG Contract Meetings Will Resume Today

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. resumed contract negotiations Wednesday following a statement by union President Ralph Reiser that the 118-day strike of company plants may be settled by arbitration.

Federal mediator Robert Donnahoo announced Wednesday night that negotiations had been recessed until 9 a.m. Thursday.

Negotiators interrupted a joint afternoon bargaining session which resumed after a six - day recess in negotiations to permit discussions by the company and union on issues at local plant levels to determine what would be sent to arbitration.

May Speed Settlement

The solving of issues at the local level could serve as a speed-up in the long negotiations. But it was predicted cautiously that some of the bargaining for the nine affected plants might consume most of the night, thus postponing any full scale meetings until Thursday.

"We came back Wednesday after discussing proposed arbitration with our various local unions," Reiser said.

"The fact that arbitration now is a factor means it may become a reality — and possible settlement of the strike," he added.

The recess Wednesday for plant level discussions came after company negotiators said they believed that arbitration on all issues "would be too time-consuming."

Separate Discussions Held

Negotiators from the various plants adjourned to different hotel rooms to review with management the problems at issue in each plant.

Pittsburgh Plate made an offer to settle the strike 10 days ago and the union replied last Wednesday with a proposal to submit "all unresolved" offers to arbitration. It claimed there were 11 such issues.

The company replied by suggesting six matters be sent to arbitration, contending at least three already were settled.

Mayor Urges League Action On Legislation

Requests Meeting Of Group

Mayor J. Edwin Keech has just written to Edmund C. Mester, executive secretary of the Maryland Municipal League, suggesting some six recommendations which he feels the league's legislative committee should be making to the General Assembly during the curren, session.

Mayor Keech suggests that the legislative committee meet at College Park sometime during the week of February 9.

More Gas Money

The mayor's suggestions concern re-allocation of gasoline tax money, authorizing all counties of Maryland to impose a cigaret tax similar to Baltimore County's, a study of the allocation of income tax money, change in the distribution of the capital stock tax on banks, distribution of fines for state law violations, and amendment to the home rule law.

Cumberland's chief executive believes that the re-allocation of gasoline tax money should be made so that the municipalities would receive a greater share than the counties. He believes that the authority for all counties to tax cigarets should be permitted to offset money lost by the counties in the distribution of the gasoline tax money.

Next among Mr. Keech's recommendation was a study of the allocation of the income tax money so that the place of business rather than residence would be controlling. At the present time many business men having their establishments within the city limits reside outside the city. When they file their tax returns they give their residence address, which means that the county rather than the city benefits, even though the municipality should receive credit.

Bank Stock Tax

Mayor Keech goes on to contend that the distribution of the capital stock tax on banks is "certainly very unfair" on the grounds that the municipality where the bank is located should receive the major percentage of the tax rather than the county.

He then pointed out that fines involving violations of state laws, although made by city officers, are divided between the county and the state. He feels that the city should receive the major portion of the fine when the arrest is made by a city-paid officer.

Finally, Mayor Keech suggests that it may be advisable to amend the home rule law so that municipalities would be given the right to adopt any form of taxation desired.

New Highway Will Be Built In Westernport

Work Slated To Start Sometime This Year

The construction of a new highway in Westernport, which will tie in with Maryland Route 36, is scheduled to begin sometime this year, a spokesman for the State Roads Commission said last night.

Yesterday a preliminary investigation of the proposed highway, which will be about a mile and a half in length, was held by personnel of the SRC and a consulting engineer firm.

Within about two months SRC officials hope to have a report on the estimated cost of the project being built to alleviate the traffic problem of Westernport.

Some Changes Made

A few changes in original plans were made yesterday during the investigation. The highway is to be constructed from Church Street in the vicinity of the Boal Funeral Home and will extend along the rear of Main Street to a point near the Baptist Church on Philos Avenue.

The highway will then extend across Georges Creek, cross Waverly Terrace and continue up through Brophytown and back across the creek north of the existing bridge in that community. The highway will tie in with Route 36 near a sweeping curve beyond Franklin.

Main Street To Be One-Way

Main Street in Westernport is scheduled to become one-way with the construction of the new highway. A number of homes and a couple of business places will have to be razed in order that the highway may be constructed.

Attending yesterday's investigation were two representatives of the Office of Special Service of the SRC, two representatives of Maddix and Hopkins, consulting engineer firm of Silver Spring; Robert Murray of the right of way department of SRC District 6; George E. Geary, construction engineer of the district; Mayor Ray L. Wilt of Westernport and Commissioner L. C. Lambert, and Commissioner Leo Herbert.

Some time ago the town of Westernport requested that such a highway be built in that community and the project got the backing of State Senator Charles M. See.

Towler Heads US Route 40 Association

Jack L. Towler, proprietor of Allegany Inn Hotel, was elected president of the Route 40 Association, Inc., at a meeting held in the Baltimore Pike fire hall.

Named to serve with him are Edward Habeeb, local florist, first vice president; Carl Dulaney of Uniontown, second vice president; James Garland, secretary, and Robbin Wolford, treasurer.

The association took formal action on a resolution endorsing and urging the passage of House Bill 89, introduced by Delegate William Walsh. This bill will provide development along Route 40 from Hancock, westward to the Pennsylvania line, to attract tourist trade. The association has long advocated this and other ideas to enhance the convenience, comfort and scenic beauty of travel over Route 40, Mr. Towler observed.

The new president said a membership drive is to be launched.

Bill To Close Md. Publicity Dept. Delayed For Hearing

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Representatives of Maryland's tourist industry sought Wednesday to slow down a bill which would abolish the Department of Information and incorporate its functions in a new economic development agency.

The administration - backed bill, introduced last Friday, was approved by the Ways and Means Committee Wednesday morning and was to have reached the floor of the House in the afternoon.

However, Chairman Boone (D-Balto County) agreed to hold it up for one more day to give tourist interests a chance to be heard. He set the hearing for 11 a. m. Thursday.

Protest Group Forms

Twenty-four persons from various hotels, motels and other travel businesses arrived at the Statehouse to protest the fast movement of the legislation and request a hearing. A number of them were directors of the Maryland Travel Council.

They expressed fear it would cost Earle R. Poorbaugh, director of the Department of Information, his job and that the department's present functions of promoting tourist travel would not be carried out by the new agency.

Del. Loveless (D - Prince Georges), who drafted and sponsored the bill at Gov. Tawes' request, told them there was no intention of cutting back on tourist promotion and that they would even find it expanded under the new set-up.

In replies to questions about whether Poorbaugh would be in the new department, he said that was a matter between Poorbaugh and Gov. Tawes.

F. M. Irving of College Park, president of the Maryland Motor Court Assn. told Nichols the group was also concerned about what would happen to the department's $62,000 budget when it became absorbed in the new agency.

$150,000 Budget

The economic development commission would have an initial budget of $150,000, Loveless said, to use toward promoting industrial expansion in Maryland and recreational activities including travel.

The bill's only direct reference to the Department of Information calls for abolishing that agency.

Among those conferring with Loveless Wednesday were Jack Lee of the Francis Scott Key Hotel in Frederick, a director of the Maryland Travel Council; Lloyd C. Strickland of Elkridge, chairman of the Highway and Legislative Committee of the Maryland Motor Court Assn.; J. H. Morgan of Annapolis, member of the Legislative Committee of the Chesapeake Bay Bridge Assn.; and four members of the Route 40 Assn.—Irvin Hawkins of Baltimore County, Mrs. M. F. Whitlock of Elkton, T. Hampton of Baltimore County and Tom McNutt of North East, Md.

Fire Ruins Area House

The home of Belmont Athey, Uhl Highway, was damaged extensively by fire last night, but the flames were brought under control by firemen of two volunteer companies.

Firemen of North Branch received an initial call about 8:45 p. m. They called upon volunteers of Bedford Road for assistance in quenching the blaze, which was confined to the basement and first floor of the two-story residence.

It is believed that the fire originated in the basement of the residence, which is heated by a coal furnace. The flames spread through the kitchen of the home into the dining room and living room.

Firemen used water from the booster tanks. Volunteers from Bedford Road returned to the fire hall about 10:45 p. m., although firemen from North Branch were still on the scene about 11 p. m.

State Personnel Chief Proposes Hiring Change

Veterans' Preference Rule Under Attack

By MARTY SUTPHIN

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Maryland's personnel chief Wednesday recommended two controversial changes in the rules for hiring and promoting state employes.

One would eliminate the "absolute preference" given veterans. The other would scrap the provision that promotions must go to one of the five highest scorers on an eligibility test.

Commissioner Russell S. Davis admitted that prospects for enactment of the first change is slim. But he indicated he expects the other proposal to be introduced soon in the General Assembly with solid support.

He outlined his proposals at a budget hearing before the House Ways and Means Committee.

Davis said the move to change the veterans preference is not a popular one. "But somebody sometime has got to take a stand in support of it. Absolute preference has no place in a merit system, and I feel it is my responsibility to recommend it be eliminated."

Sponsor Is Veteran

Under current Maryland law, veterans get a five-point boost toward passing the test given prospective state employes. Once they have passed, they move to the top of the hiring list.

Davis, himself a veteran, said he would favor giving veterans additional points once they had passed the test on their own but would eliminate the five-point-head-start and absolute preference.

He said Maryland is the only state which treats veterans so well and "it is time we got in step with other states and the federal regulations."

Current regulations require department heads to pick men to be promoted from the top five scorers on the eligibility test. Davis thinks they should be able to give the promotion to anyone who passed the test.

He said the current system often holds back men with excellent records on the job. "It certainly does not make it possible for you always to select the best man," he said.

Convince The Veterans?

The personnel commissioner said all officials in his department "are completely sold" on both proposals. "I think we could even convince veterans organizations" the changes are desirable, he said.

To emphasize his objections to absolute preference for veterans, Davis claimed no non-veteran has been able to get on the State Police force since the Korean War.

On another matter, the personnel director suggested that any future salary increases voted state employes should be handed out as increments in specific job categories rather than as across-the-board raises.

Among bills passed by the Senate and sent to the House Wednesday was one to let prisoners out of the Harford County Jail during working hours. The idea behind the bill, introduced by Sen. James (D-Harford), is to prevent families of prisoners from becoming welfare problems.

PPG Contract Meetings Will Resume Today

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. resumed contract negotiations Wednesday following a statement by union President Ralph Reiser that the 118-day strike of company plants may be settled by arbitration.

Federal mediator Robert Donahoo announced Wednesday night that negotiations had been recessed until 9 a.m. Thursday.

Negotiators interrupted a joint afternoon bargaining session which resumed after a six - day recess in negotiations to permit discussions by the company and union on issues at local plant levels to determine what would be sent to arbitration.

May Speed Settlement

The solving of issues at the local level could serve as a speed-up in the long negotiations. But it was predicted cautiously that some of the bargaining for the nine affected plants might consume most of the night, thus postponing any full scale meetings until Thursday.

"We came back Wednesday after discussing proposed arbitration with our various local unions," Reiser said.

"The fact that arbitration now is a factor means it may become a reality — and possible settlement of the strike," he added.

The recess Wednesday for plant level discussions came after company negotiators said they believed that arbitration on all issues "would be too time-consuming."

Separate Discussions Held

Negotiators from the various plants adjourned to different hotel rooms to review with management the problems at issue in each plant.

Pittsburgh Plate made an offer to settle the strike 10 days ago and the union replied last Wednesday with a proposal to submit "all unresolved" offers to arbitration. It claimed there were 11 such issues.

The company replied by suggesting six matters be sent to arbitration, contending at least three already were settled.
